POWER PLANT SHIFTS TO OIL AT CLEVELAND

Boilers Converted Today as Company Acts To Meet Coal Emergency.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 30 — The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, owner of an estimated 80 per cent of Cleveland's industrial and residential electrical power production, today begins a conversion to oil-burning expected to last throughout the current coal emergency.

Emerson L. Lindseth, company president, ordered a program of conversion slated to reach a daily consumption of 1,000,000 gallons daily at the company's lakeshore generating plants to other oil burners to be started tomorrow in the company's central steam heating plant.

"The prime objective of the illuminating company in substituting oil for coal is to avoid, if possible, any further curtailment of service of electricity or steam by our customers," said Lindseth.

The company's efforts to save coal, he added, would not lessen consumer responsibility to observe the power conservation order by the civilian production administration. The firm does not intend to burn oil after the stoppage by the AFL-United Mine Workers, Lindseth reported.

6,000 Tons of Coal

At the maximum point of the company's oil-burning program about 6,000 tons of coal, or 75 per cent of its normal daily consumption, would be saved by the use of 1,000,000 gallons of oil, said Lindseth, but the cost of the plan will be about double the expense of burning coal.

The Cleveland board of education scheduled to meet Monday to consider closing of schools because of the coal shortage, today conferred upon an offer by radio station WHK to broadcast lesson assignments to students who might be kept at home by the emergency.

Prior to the utility firm's announcement of its conversion to oil burners from coal, Howard A. Smith, area distribution manager for the solid fuels administration reported his office had granted less than one in five requests for emergency fuel, allotting a total of 6,000 tons since the coal tie-up started.

Coal Stocks Frozen

Smith announced that 2,200 tons of coal stockpiles by lake shipping firms was frozen for emergency use only.

As industrial lay-offs increased throughout the state, Cincinnati coal dealers suggested large heating plants try slack coal and coke screenings, which the dealers said often proved satisfactory and were in good supply.

The Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co. authorized transmission of 3,-000 kilowatts an hour to the municipal electric plant of Hamilton, O., starting Monday. Walter Beckjord, president of the Cincinnati utility, said transmission would require an additional 40 tons of coal daily but would still leave enough fuel for another month's operation.

The 3,000 kilowatts will add about 15 per cent to the output of electricity at the Hamilton plant where officials reported their coal stockpiles would last only until Dec. 7.

A loan of 200 tons from the H. J. Heinz Co. plant at Fremont assured Bowling Green University sufficient coal to operate from Monday, end of the Thanksgiving holiday, until the Christmas recess days begin.

BRITISH CONVICT GERMAN GENERALS

By The Associated Press

ROME, Nov. 30—A British war crimes tribunal today convicted two German generals of the reprisal massacre of 335 Italian hostages in Rome's Ardeatine caves in 1943, and took under consideration a defense request to allow them the soldier's death, shooting.

A crowd of Italians, including relatives of the victims, shouted "assassins" and "to death" at the defendants, Col. Gen. Oberhard von Mackensen, 14th army commander, and Lt. Gen. Kurt Maelzer, who commanded the Rome garrison, as they left the court to await the verdict.

In a final summation, C. L. Sterling, the bewigged judge advocate, painted a stark picture of the massacre of the hostages in reprisal for the bomb slaying of 32 Nazi police troops ambushed as they marched along a central Rome street, March 23, 1944.

OPA MERGER WITH CPA NEAR

Union of Two Agencies Hastened by Resignation of Paul Porter.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—Merger of OPA and the civilian production administration moved a step nearer today with the President's acceptance of the resignation of OPA Chief Paul Porter.

Even as it entered its final days as an independent agency, the OPA girded for a finish fight in federal district court over whether still another of its scarce powers—sugar rationing—may go by the boards.

The continuation of sugar controls, a top official told a reporter, may be decided next Wednesday when a federal judge hears an attack on legality of rationing brought by the Maple Leaf Dairies, Inc. of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Effective Dec. 4

Resignation of Porter, who succeeded Chester Bowles last February, was dated Nov. 15 and effective December 4.

It was made public by the White House last night in a move taken as a signal for the consolidation which had been talked over for several weeks by top administration advisers.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles Ross told reporters the action could be expected "in a few days."

The new agency, its name as yet unannounced, would carry on controls deemed still necessary and proceed with gradual liquidation of OPA and CPA.

There also were reports it might take in such other wartime emergency offices as the reemployment and retraining administration and the office of contract settlement.

Trouble Finding Boss

Some officials attributed the delay in effecting consolidation to the administration's inability to decide on a boss for the new unit.

Porter eliminated himself as a possible choice by telling the President he felt he could make no further contribution toward closing out OPA. There were reports that he would become president of Broadcast Music, Inc. CPA Chief John Small has indicated he, too, is anxious to return to private business.

As for the court case against OPA, the official who talked with newsmen said that if the attack on the agency's formula for rationing sugar to institutional and industrial users is successful, "to all practical purposes all sugar rationing is out."

OPA already had been skeletonized by the President's sweeping decontrol order earlier this month which left only sugar, syrups, rice and rents under ceilings.

Marine 'Chutist "Drops In" for Visit at Home

Special to The Star

SYCAMORE, Nov. 30 — To prove to his friends that he knew how to operate a parachute, Gregg Babcock, 19, a Marine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Babcock of northeast of here, made a parachute jump into a field near his home yesterday about 2:30 p. m.

The jump was made from a plane piloted by John Stellburg, instructor at the Upper Sandusky airport, from an altitude of 4,000 feet. Babcock used his own parachute. He is on a five-day leave from the Norfolk Navy yards where he is stationed.

'The Messiah' To Be Sung Sunday Night By Chorus of 100

A chorus of more than 100 voices will sing portions of the oratorio, "The Messiah," by Handel, tomorrow night in Epworth Methodist church, here, with special soloists featured, under the direction of Prof. Rexford Keller, head of the music department of Ohio Wesleyan university. The performance will be the Marion Civic Chorus fifteenth Yuletide presentation of the oratorio here.

Nine choruses will be presented by the group composed of members of Marion church choirs and other music organizations of the city, together with recitatives and airs by the soloists. Those who will sing the solo parts are Mrs Clarence Assenheimer of Upper Sandusky, Mrs. E. N. Hale of Marion and Joseph A. Schufle of

GERAN MEMORIAL SERVICES MONDAY

Bar Association To Conduct Rites at 1 P. M.

A memorial service for Major George T. Geran, Marion attorney, whose death occurred early Friday, will be conducted by the Marion County Bar association at 1 p. m. Monday in the common pleas courtroom. The service will be attended by the members and they will be joined by a number of out-of-town attorneys associated with him in the legal profession.

Major Geran, whose military career extended over a period of many years was a member of the Bar association. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Monday at the Merle H. Hughes mortuary on Mt. Vernon avenue.

FRANCE HITS VETO OVER ARMS PLAN

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Nov. 30——France today warned the United Nations that control measures covering the atomic bomb and arms reduction cannot be effective unless the veto right is eliminated.

Delegate Alexandre Parodi, continuing general debate in the 54-nation political committee on Russia's broad disarmament proposals, commented:

"It seems evident that control cannot be controlled if one who is holding control can by his own initiative evade it."

France thus lined up with the United States which long has insisted that the veto power be outlawed in matters of atomic energy and equally directly opposed the Soviet union's stand that the special voting right in the security council must be retained on all questions.

Parodi suggested it might be possible to find a formula for special agreement among the big powers to place the atomic issue outside the veto.

He agreed to accept the Soviet proposal, which calls for international control and inspections under security council bodies, as a basis for discussion but also made it clear he favored consideration of Australian- Canadian amendments which would in effect move the control bodies outside the jurisdiction of the veto.

Parodi said that in any arms reduction plan steps must first be taken to ease the present international tension.

MINE STRIKERS FACE THREAT OF HIGH FINES

Operators File Applications for Penalties; Walkout in Tenth Day.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—Striking miners faced a threat of fines running into millions of dollars today as John L. Lewis, whacked by a major legal setback, dug in for a finish court fight with the United States government.

The walkout went into the tenth day and attorneys for Uncle Sam and the United Mine Workers' chief charted strategy for resumption of Lewis' contempt of court trial Monday while these developments tumbled into the many-sided national crisis:

1. Soft coal operators reported that a "very considerable number" of mining companies had filed applications with the government to fine miners $1 and $2 a day for each day they stay on strike.

2. Rebuked by some of his colleagues for expressing eagerness to resume negotiations with Lewis, Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producers association, scheduled a meeting of his board of directors Monday to determine his group's position.

3. Senator Knowland (R-Calif) urged President Truman to call for volunteers to operate the coal mines, should the miners fail to return to work after a suggested appeal by Mr. Truman.

4. As a direct result of the coal tie-up upwards of 90,000 persons were out of work in related industries and an additional 175,000 have been furloughed until Monday to conserve fuel.

Basis of Fines

The prospect of fines against Lewis' 400,000 striking miners stems from terms of his contract with the government—the agreement Lewis has declared void and which the government holds is still in effect.

The pact provides that fines can vary from $1 to $2 a day, depending upon the producing area. Thus if all the coal companies involved in the current strike should file applications for fines—and the government should assess the full penalty for the 10 days of their walkout—the total assessment to date would range between $4,000,000 and $8,000,000.

A spokesman for the federal coal mines administration had this to say:

"We would have to consider each company's application separately, on the circumstances and facts involved in each case."

Burke disclosed that a "very considerable number of coal companies" have filed applications for fines.

"The provisions of the coal contract are clear," Burke told a reporter. "The companies not only can file these applications for fines, but they must. There is a penalty against them, too, for failing to insist that the fines be levied."

Union Backed Fines

He explained the strike penalty formula originally was put in the contracts at the insistence of the union, which wanted a means of punishing members who pulled wildcat strikes.

Usually the fines go to charities selected by the operators and the union. Under the contract with the government, however, the money would be placed in a miners medical and hospital fund.

In calling a meeting of the board of the Southern Coal Producers association, Burke acted after 10 members of the 27-man board signed a statement that he lacked authority to propose resumption of contract negotiations with Lewis' United Mine Workers.

Issuing a "disclaimer of any connection" with Burke's views, the 10 dissenting members of his board said in a statement:

"We believe that talk at this juncture of renewal of operator-union negotiations tends only to becloud the fundamental questions that are now at issue in the strike of the union against the government in violation of their contract and in flagrant disregard of the order of the federal court."

LOS ANGELES FOG-BOUND

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30 — November, which treated southern California to record rains and snows, then to unseasonable heat, bowed out today with a fog that grounded planes and had even pedestrian travel groping along almost at a standstill. Police reported a sharp upturn in automobile accidents, but said most injuries were minor because of slow speeds.

95,000 Made Idle by Strike

Industrial Shutdowns Spread as Coal Supplies Grow Scarcer.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 30—Workers idled by shortages in the 10-day-old soft coal shutdown numbered more than 95,000 today while depleted industrial coal piles held grim promise of new drastic layoffs next week.

Another 167,000 were jobless from Wednesday to Monday morning when employers declared a Thanksgiving weekend holiday to conserve fuel. The pro tem closings made 150,000 auto workers temporarily idle in Detroit.

About 17,000 were placed on three-day and four-day weeks at the Gary, Ind., and South Chicago works of Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corp., reducing operations there to 68 per cent of capacity, compared to 91.5 last week.

C. & O. Cuts Off 500

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad cut about 500 more workers at Russell, Ky., while at Mishawaka, Ind. 250 foundry employes went home from the Dodge Manufacturing Co. Nickel Plate railroad furloughed 500 men and the Pere Marquette another 150 at Cleveland.

With Denver's public schools closed, officials turned to newspapers and radio to keep some 55,000 pupils up with the lessons.

In West Virginia, the nation's No. 1 soft coal producing state, railroaders mull hands and rivermen by the hundreds were forced into idleness. Cancelled orders brought suspension of about 75 per cent of the operations of the milling firm of Gwinn Brothers and Co. Inc. at Huntington, W. Va. About 40 employes were laid off.

Boat Crews Idle

An estimated 350 river terminal and towboat crews in the Huntington area were furloughed as well as 515 employes of the Norfolk and Western railroad and 45 Baltimore and Ohio workers near Fairmont, W. Va.

Meanwhile, many non-working coal miners in Kentucky, Pennsylvania and West Virginia were collecting their last full pay until they return to the pits.

The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., which supplies 80 per cent of the electrical power used in the Ohio city, announced it was converting from coal to oil in its generating plants.

Russia Gives In On Reparations

New Concession Is Made by Moscow on Split of War Payments.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—A new Russian concession, under which Yugoslavia and Greece would receive equal treatment in the division of war reparations, heightened hopes today that the foreign ministers council would hurdle soon its chief remaining obstacle in the way of peace pacts for the axis satellites.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov accepted the 50-50 formula yesterday only after a long argument that Yugoslavia, as a country twice as large as Greece, should receive double the reparations paid Greece. Final settlement of the issue may be reached at a 4 p. m. (EST) meeting today.

At the same time, it appeared likely Molotov might succeed in his quest for a substantial reduction of the reparations levy on Bulgaria. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes tentatively supported a proposal which would cut the assessment from $125,-000,000 as recommended by the Paris peace conference, to $65,-000,000.

Three different formulas for reparations from Italy and Bulgaria were offered as the council juggled figures for four hours last night without reaching a final settlement. All of them included $100,000,000 for Russia.

The four diplomatic chiefs divided on another unsettled question—how much compensation should be paid by Italy for wartime destruction of allied property in that country.

Byrnes, who previously had advocated a 25 cents on the dollar settlement, offered to compromise at the Russian figure of fifty cents on the dollar. Britain and France are holding out for 75 cents.

Fire Sweeps Dallas Store

Loss To Exceed Half Million as Blaze Races Through Basement Storage.

By The Associated Press

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 30 — A $500,000-plus basement fire today practically wiped out the reserve stocks of Dallas' famed Neiman Marcus department store, one of the nation's fashion centers.

The stubborn, furnace-hot blaze sent billowing clouds of destructive smoke throughout the five-story building, smartly decorated for the Christmas season, and Store Manager Robert A. Ross said: "We can't begin to really estimate what this has cost us."

"Our tremendous reserve stocks of fine furs, shoes and other merchandise stored in the basement is almost totally ruined," he added. "Smoke damage in other parts of the store may be great I'd say that the damage can easily top $500,000."

An investigation was launched at dawn to place the cause of the four-hour blaze which was discovered shortly before midnight.

Firemen Overcome

Benning Field, fireman, called it the most stubborn hard-to-reach fire in his 27 years on the force. At least half a dozen firemen were temporarily overcome by smoke. Assistant Fire Chief J. W. Owens and E. H. Miller, building engineer, were hospitalized.

A night watchman, making his rounds on the fifth floor of the building, reported he heard a series of rumbling noises just before midnight "which sounded like explosions."

He descended to the ground floor in an elevator and found smoke. The automatic alarm system called firemen to the scene at 11:57 p. m. A second alarm soon was turned in. Altogether, a dozen trucks responded.

Ambulances Stand By

Crowds in the street watched smoke billow from windows and the roof. Ambulances waited among the big red trucks. Rubber-coated firemen hurried grimly on every floor, frequently emerging from the structure to fill their lungs with fresh air. At one time time a dozen fire fighters were flat on the sidewalks, getting their second wind.

Owens was carried out unconscious on a canvas stretcher by seven comrades.

For the last few days the store, loaded with Christmas stocks, has experienced one of its heaviest selling seasons in history.

"This fire," said Ross, "happened at the worst possible time."

MAYOR'S FUEL GROUP URGES CONSERVATION

Receives Report Placing Lump Coal in Dealers' Bins at Under 1,000 Tons.

Marion coal dealers' stock of lump coal has dwindled to less than 1,000 tons and a sudden cold spell in the weather would exhaust that supply in less than two days. Their stoker coal supply is less than 500 tons.

These were conclusions reached by Mayor Harry L. Dowler's emergency fuel committee at a meeting in the mayor's office last night.

The committee's conclusion was made after it heard a report from Charles Buente, president of the Marion Retail Coal Dealers' association, in which Marion's coal shortage was described as critical. The committee urged all residents of the city to conserve coal wherever possible. It asked domestic consumers to close off extra rooms, keep temperatures down and to supplement their coal supplies with wood as means of cutting coal consumption to a minimum.

Slow Deliveries Certain

It was pointed out that even an early settlement of the coal strike would mean it would be 10 days or two weeks before any coal would find its way to the local dealers. Mr. Buente told the group a survey among coal dealers indicated approximately 2,500 homes here have less than a two weeks' supply of coal on hand. Most of the remaining homes are believed to have less than a 30-day supply. A few homes where large coal stocks were purchased early this fall will have sufficient supplies to last through the winter.

The committee recommended that coal dealers continue to deliver coal only in one-ton lots to homes with less than a 10-day supply and suggested drivers of coal trucks not make deliveries where they found coal already in basements.

It advised that coal not be delivered to industry, business places or public buildings but should be retained for domestic use only.

Ready for Emergency Action

Should the strike continue for another week and the situation grow even more grave, Mayor Dowler said he would recall the committee to consider further fuel conservation methods.

Members of the committee at last night's meetings were Mr. Buente, Ben T. Wiant, Robert T. Mason, E. E. Holt, Ellis Oller, Rev. Fr. W. J. Spickerman and Rev. R. W. Faulkner.

COUNTY'S AAA ELECTION SET

Will Start with Nominations in 15 Townships Monday.

Meetings to nominate 150 AAA community committeemen in Marion county's 15 townships will begin next Monday and continue through Dec. 12, according to an announcement today from Frank G. Montgomery, Marion county AAA chairman.

Each township will nominate 10 men and township elections will be held Thursday, Dec. 19 between 12 noon and 9 p. m.

The nomination meetings will be held at 8 p. m. Besides the munity committeemen will be select a farmer to represent them at the county AAA convention Dec. 21 at 10 a. m. in the county AAA office. The convention delegate may be either a regular committeeman or some other representative selected by the community. A representative from the county committee will be present at each of the community nomination meetings to discuss the 1947 farm outlook.

Five To Be Chosen

In the elections, which will be conducted by ballot, five community committeemen will be selected. They will include a chairman, a vice chairman, a regular committeeman and a first and second alternate.

Schedule for the township nomination meetings is as follows: Pleasant, Dec. 2; Green Camp, Dec. 3; Big Island, Montgomery and Scott, Dec. 4, Bowling Green and Salt Rock, Dec. 5; Grand, Dec 6; Prospect, Dec. 7; Richland and Tully, Dec. 9; Grand Prairie and Waldo, Dec. 10 and Claridon and Marion, Dec. 12.

Meeting places for the nomination meetings and for the elections are as follows: Big Island, township house; Bowling Green, township house; Claridon, council room, Caledonia; Grand, township house; Grand Prairie, school house; Green Camp, township house; Marion, county AAA office, 220 East Church street; Montgomery, council room, La-Rue; Pleasant, school house; Prospect, township house; Richland, township house; Salt Rock, township house; Scott, township house; Tully, township house and Waldo, township house.

U. S. and Britain Differ On Communication Plan

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 30 — An under-the-surface split between the British and American delegations on the question of improving and extending tele - communications throughout the world developed today as UNESCO (the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization) began considering problems of press, films and radio.

The British delegation called for a first priority in 1947 to rehabilitation of mass communications in war-damaged areas and to the technical training of personnel to serve in the devastated countries. The British delegation, which includes the playwright J. B. Priestley, said it did not believe expansion of tele-communications was a project to be considered in 1947.

ST. PAUL TEACHERS' STRIKE STALEMATED

By The Associated Press

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 30 — Negotiations between striking public school teachers and city council were stalemated today on the question of money.

A teachers' spokesman said council refused to pledge funds needed for higher salaries and additional school supplies, salient points in the pedagogues' demands. The council replied that it could not under the law.

Council explained that voting of such funds before they became available through official channels would be cause for impeachment.

The teachers, who walked out Nov. 25, said they would resume picketing the 77 schools next Monday. Pickets were called off the lines during the Thanksgiving weekend inasmuch as schools normally close for that period.

The teachers struck in an attempt to enforce demands for a $200 cost-of-living bonus in 1946; a new salary schedule ranging from $2,400 a year for beginners with college degrees to a $5,000 maximum; and an annual school budget increase of $1,700,000 to cover school maintenance, purchase of supplies and equipment, and new construction. Present salary range is $1,300 to $2,800.

Miners Have Little Chance at State Aid

By The Associated Press

The nation's 400,000 soft coal miners stand very little chance of drawing unemployment compensation benefits to help them out during their current work stoppage, a survey of states involved disclosed today.

Not a single state reported it was making such payments and most indicated they would not do so, although in a few cases the question still was not decided pending legal rulings.

Oklahoma City Architect Plans Modern Ranch Style Home

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

By W. Wadsworth Wood

Dry-Wall Construction

Ever since the "small house" first came into existence, the designers who drew the plans, and the manufacturers who made the materials, have been looking for a substitute for the three-coat plastered interior walls which made up the bulk of the inside of the average small house.

Anyone who has been through the experience of building a home during the last five or ten years is familiar with the delay, the dampness, and the general complication of full-plastered interiors. Not for one moment do we discount the fact that a thoroughly good, plastered interior is the finest and best obtainable; but under the present conditions and the present state of both labor and material markets, the cost of a first class plaster job is quite a bit beyond the reach of the average citizen, to say nothing of the GI veteran. The answer to the problem rests in the use of one of the excellent wall-boards obtainable, and which are not an item-unattainable under the priority lists. Due to the fact that wallboard is to be had in many forms; gypsum, cement, woodpulp, composition, and so forth, it is readily obtainable; and one need only search the market for the available supply.

In house construction of the orthodox kind, the general procedure was to erect studs or wooden uprights to form the backbone of partitions. This backbone was covered on both sides with wood or metal lath. Over this lath, the first coat of plaster was applied. It was known as the "ground-coat" or "rough-coat." Over this was a second coat known as the "brown-coat," and over that a third coat known as the "finish-coat." Of course, all of this required a lot of time, and a lot of labor. Consequently a lot of money.

The economically-built home of today bypasses 70 percent of the material and labor costs involved in this orthodox method, and simply nails readymade wallboard directly to the studding, and gets a real job out of it in the bargain.

The honest appraisal of the two methods resolves itself down to this: in the orthodox procedure, you have first the job of applying the lath over the studs in a proper manner. You then have to apply the ground or base coat of plaster. This must be allowed to dry out properly. Then you have to apply the brown or scratch coat, which must be applied and dried properly. Then you have to apply the finish-coat, which must be permitted to dry out properly before it is painted or papered. Net cost——13 cents a square foot for the lath, and 12 cents for the three coats of plaster, or approximately 25 cents a square foot for your interior walls.

By using the economical modern method of dry-wall construction you can have wallboard applied for eight cents a square foot, including material and labor (rough finish) or for 15 cents a square foot ready to paint or paper. In short there is a saving of from 75 to 40 per cent on interior wall finish for modern houses, if you care to make it.

Contrasting Colors As Safety Measure

Spaces behind fire extinguishers should be painted a color which will contrast strongly with the equipment, bright yellow or red, if the equipment itself is not similarly painted. This precaution may save valuable minutes or seconds in locating the equipment in case of fire.

In a test it was found that when penicillin was used daily in the tooth powder oral bacteria dropped from an average of 72,000 to 300 in three weeks.

Ready-Made Homes Flown to Builders

NEW YORK—Successful flight tests have been conducted which may lead to regular air shipments of prefabricated houses direct from factory to builder.

This has been disclosed by Henry P. Palmer, president of Allied Hodgson Housing Corp., who reported that his company has flown a prefabricated unit from Boston to Dayton, O., where the unit was assembled in 37 minutes after a four hour flight.

The prefabricated unit, a one-room sportsman's cabin complete with furnishings, was flown abroad a Capital Airlines-PCA air freight plane in what officials described as the first test to determine the potential use of air transportation in speeding housing facilities direct from factory to builder.

Suggestion Made For Winter Comfort

Householders preparing their homes for the wintry blasts should have the filters in their warm air heating systems cleaned. By cleaning the filters, added efficiency is given to heat transmission of the system and a constant circulation of air throughout the home is maintained.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Cement Mortar Seams

Q. I have been building two gateposts out of split rocks. When filling the mortar joints with white cement I spilled some of it. Although I washed it off at once, some of the brown rocks are discolored. Could you tell me how to get the original color back on these stones?

A. The cement can be cleaned off with a weak solution of muriatic acid. But I advise you to have a mason do the work, for if not done correctly, much damage might follow. The mixture is one part muriatic acid in 20 of water, or 1 pint acid to 10 quarts water. Pour the acid slowly into the water to avoid spattering. Mix in a wooden pail and scrub with a fiber brush. Do not let the solution remain in contact more than two or three minutes, for it might damage the mortar joints. Rinse very thoroughly with water. Wear old clothes and shoes, eyeglasses or goggles and rubber gloves. Do not let the acid touch your skin, as it is highly corrosive.

Finish Did Not Dry Hard

Q. I read somewhere to put boiled oil on gumwood, which I did. But it doesn't dry and the dirt and dust stick fast to it. Is there anything to take the oil off again?

A. Washing with turpentine should take off the stickiness, and most of the oil. If you wish to apply another oil finish, mix one part turpentine with two parts boiled linseed oil. After allowing the oil to soak in for an hour or so, wipe off the excess and allow to dry for a day or two. Then apply the next coat. Rub very well with coarse cloths between applications. If turpentine does not remove the oxidize (hardened) oil paint remover may have to be used. Follow directions on the can and be careful of fire.

Cleaning Plush Toys

Q. Do you know of anything that will clean plush toys? Soap and water seem to turn them yellow.

A. Try a spot-removing liquid, and when clean but still damp, brush with a clean brush to raise the nap. An alternative would be to use a rug-cleaning powder, on sale in the rug section of a department store or at a rug store. The yellowing from your soap and water treatment may have been due possibly to insufficient rinsing off of the soap.

Brass Hardware on Door

J. How can I keep the lustre on the brasswork of my outside door?

A. First, brighten it with good metal polish. Then clean thoroughly with benzine (careful of fire!) to remove every trace of the polish. Then when the brass is dry, finish it with spar varnish or outdoor clear lacquer. Do not expect these finishes to last very long if the brass is being handled constantly.

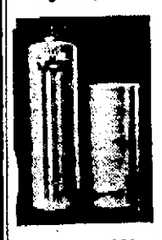
"I'm a Softie FOR SOFT WATER"

"O, happy day! The day I got a Stover Water Softener. Until that day, I never knew what a difference soft water makes. Now I do the dishes, laundry, everything in about half. Dishes, china and glassware sparkle. My laundry comes out cleaner, fresher, softer—and irons much more easily. Household cleaning is simpler, faster. And with it all, my hands stay soft and smooth, young and lovely."

You'll have a soft spot in your heart, too, for a Stover Water Softener. It not only eases household tasks—it also brings you the grandest shampoos, leaves your skin delightfully smooth and soft after bathing.



So take a little tip. Consult your plumbing contractor for details on a Stover Water Softener.

Vitamin K Gum

Yesterday I called attention to the suggestion that vitamin K, needed in the body for the normal clotting of the blood, might also be useful in the treatment of hives. Now this talented vitamin appears in still another role—as a preventive of caries or tooth decay.

This use of vitamin K has been thoroughly studied by Dr. D. Y. Burrill and co-workers of Chicago. Vitamin K was put into chewing gum, together with a substance known as calcium carbonate. It would appear that the chewing gum is a good means of spreading the vitamin throughout the mouth during the action of chewing, and in this way seems to aid materially in the prevention of tooth decay, even when the diet contains a great deal of sugar. The chewing gum itself may have some cleansing effect and also helps to stimulate the flow of alkaline saliva.

Vitamin K could also be put into mouth washes, tooth pastes and, possibly, into sugar and syrup. It is thought that the vitamin acts by preventing the formation of acids in the mouth which, it is believed, damage the teeth and allow decay to develop.

It has been noted that tooth decay may also be prevented to some degree by the use of fluorine in drinking water by persons who are particularly susceptible to tooth decay. According to Dr. Burrill, however, the vitamin K gum decreases caries or tooth decay to a greater extent than does the use of the fluorine-containing drinking water. Vitamin K may not have any effect in slowing down the progress of decay, once it is well started, but it seems to help in keeping the decay from beginning.

In carrying out the study on the vitamin K, one group of persons chewed the gum with the vitamin K in it after each meal for ten minutes, over a period of 18 months. Another group used the gum containing only calcium carbonate. The vitamin K gum reduced the occurrence of new cavities from 60 per cent to 90 per cent, while the effect of the gum without the vitamin K was only half as good. There would seem to be no condition in which this form of tooth decay prevention should not be employed.

As yet, this gum is not available for sale, but it is hoped that some preparations will soon be made which the public may employ.

MUNICIPAL WORKERS READY TO STRIKE

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 30—Stewards of the AFL-United Construction Workers today were authorized to call a strike within a week of members employed in the municipal waterworks, highway maintenance and waste collection departments.

A union spokesman said the action was voted, 400 to 3, at a mass meeting last night. He added that a suggestion that the city be given 15 days notice was "roundly booed."

The union's demands, as outlined by J. Fred Rausch, rexional director of the union at the mass meeting, include: a bargaining contract, check-off of union dues, establishment of "a proper and fair" grievance committee, protection of seniority and abolition of "discrimination."

He did not mention a specific wage increase demand but said after the meeting "we've been asking 25 cents an hour."

The union claims membership of 800 in the three departments in which approximately 1,500 are employed.

City council Wednesday adopted a resolution promising city employes no cut in wages or elimination of present "cost-of-living" bonusus so long as there was no material drop in the cost of living.

But Rausch declared: "This resolution provides for reduction in wages based on the cost of living but provides no protection to the worker when the cost of living rises. Nowhere, by resolution or otherwise, has the administration attempted to work out an equitable solution to the problems of city employes."

Kenton Youth Held On Robbery Charge

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 30—Fred Treen Jr., 18, of Kenton pleaded guilty on an unarmed robbery charge when arraigned before a Kenton justice of the peace Thursday and was bound over to the Hardin county grand jury under a $2,000 bond.

Charges against Treen were filed by Grover Moniger of Bluffton who was overpowered and robbed by the youth and his two 17-year-old accomplices last Monday in an alley behind a Kenton tavern. The juveniles, according to Sheriff Clark, were turned over to the juvenile court.

Champagne and Chit'lins in Germany

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—If the thought of turkey hash today wearies you, hearken to the tale of a delayed Thanksgiving dinner in wartime—the first "champagne and chit'lin" party ever held on the western front.

Hal Boyle

The promoter was Lt. Roy Wilder, on leave at the president's request from the New York Tribune.

When the first army press camp was squatting in a cow pasture in Normandy that had been cleared of German mines, there came a package from Spring Hope, N. C.

"A quart jar of chit'lins from Mom!" whooped Wilder.

He had to explain to all the damyankees around that "chit'lins"—the dictionary calls them chitterlings and says they are the small intestines of a pig prepared for eating—are highly savory to homesick gentlemen from below the Mason-Dixon line.

They took one look at the whitish mass in the jar and began to walk away—fast. Some had a light supper that night.

But Roy, together with Lindsey Nelson, a Knoxville newspaperman then with the ninth infantry division, and Don Whitehead of The Associated Press, gathered around the holy jar and swore a great oath on the memory of Stonewall Jackson.

"We'll eat these chit'lins in Germany on Thanksgiving!"

Takes Care of Jar

Roy put the jar in a padded box. The box bounced safely across France, into Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Came Thanksgiving and the First army had a big toehold in Germany. But the boys couldn't all get together, so the party was postponed.

The jar of chit'lins retreated along with the army during the battle of the bulge, and nobody felt like a party that black Christmas.

Next March the army pushed across the Rhine at Remagen, so Roy decided that was worth celebrating with the chit'lins. The press camp was then in a deserted German radio station at Euskirchen. At midnight Roy woke up the cook and had him light the army gasoline stove. He broke open the far-traveled jar.

"How you want 'em—semi-crisp?" said Roy, emptying the precious innards into a skillet. He wouldn't trust the cook, a northerner, to do the frying.

"Crisp," said Don.

"Any damn way," said Lindsey. "I haven't had any southern cooking for three years."

The smell of crisping chit'lins rolled through the copy room. As they finished their stories, the muddy correspondents trooped in uninvited and joined the party. They took turns crawling into the mess sergeant's quarters and stealing eggs from the scarce supply hidden under his bunk. Roy opened a jar of his mother's' home-canned sausage.

Not So Bad

"Please let me have a taste of those chit-lins," said John McVane of NBC. He took a taste of the golden brown delicacy, smiled tentatively—and everybody else pitched in.

Champagne corks were popping, cognac bottles flowing from several cases donated by pals in the ninety-ninth division which had just overrun a German liquor dump containing 99,000 bottles, all full.

"Ain't that something—champagne and chit'lins in Germany?" Said Roy. "Shoulda had some turnip greens, watermelon pickles, black-eyed peas and cornbread."

Then a correspondent from the midwest, still dubious about the bill of fare, bit into a half-raw chunk of Chit'lins. He left, choking and clawing at his throat.

"Best gag of the evening." Someone yelled.

The chit'lins soon were gone and later all the glasses ran dry. In the morning one man looked crossly at the empty champagne bottles and complained:

"Now what am I going to shave in? Just when I got to like the feel of bubbles in my beard!"

1947 Officers Named By Bucyrus Ministers

BUCYRUS, Nov. 30—Rev. J. Paul Jones of the Evangelical U. B. church was elected president of the Bucyrus Ministerial association when new officers were chosen by the association Wednesday. Others who will serve in 1947 are Rev. D. L. Custis, vice president and Rev. James C. Hough, secretary-treasurer.

Suggestions by the special rural church committee appointed last month includes three recommendations: that a religious display be set up at the county fair; that a vesper service be held on Sunday afternoon prior to the opening of the fair and that teaching religion in the schools be encouraged.

Wives of ministers will be guests at the December meeting in St. John Evangelical Reformed church when Probate Judge Constance R. Keller will be speaker.

College Athletic Head Addresses Carey Group

Special to The Star

CAREY — John B. Van Why, director of athletics at Wittenberg college, Springfield, O., was the principle speaker at the Kiwanis club annual dinner for the Carey High school football team Monday. He spoke of his experience as associate coach for three years of the University of Michigan, and several Pennsylvania schools, and from a background of study in Europe. His subject was "The Value of Athletics." He is one of five men to serve as physical fitness directors in the United States during the recent years of World War II.

Miss Joan Cole sang two solos, accompanied by Jo Anne Frazier at the piano. Gail Newell, president of the club presided. George A. Hartman was program chairman and the speaker was introduced by the Rev. Wade H. Krons, who was formerly on the Wittenberg college staff and a personal friend of Prof. Van Why.

BIBLE CLASS HEARS TALK ON "ROMANCE OF HYMNS"

Dr. E. E. Hipsher on Program of Men's Group.

At the Wednesday noon Bible class met in the Y. M. C. A. last week, Dr. E. E. Hipsher, member, spoke on "The Romance of Hymns" and parts of compositions which he told about were sung by the group. Dr. Hipsher is a former associate editor of the Etude magazine. Dr. Cheapher presided.

The program opened with singing the Doxology, and Dr. Hipsher gave the history of the song, the poetic parsphrase of the "one hundred and fiftieth Psalm" with its music, "has probably been more used than any other composition in the world with the exception of the Lord's Prayer." He spoke of the place of music as "the handmaid of religion" especially of the Christian religion which is "the only religon which has the basic principles are summed up in faith, hope, joy, praise and thanksgiving." In giving the history of "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" and its writer, Martin Luther, he stressed the influence which the entire history of the church had on Luther's hymns and music which caught the imagination of the people and set all Germany singing." He closed with a history and writing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by Francis Scott Key, and the place which it found in the patriotism of the American people culminating in its acceptance as the national anthem.

PONTIAC
FINEST OF THE FAMOUS "SILVER STREAKS"

The production of Pontiacs has fallen far below expectations because of conditions beyond our control. Now, the outlook is encouraging. The number of cars being built—while still below pre-war levels—is steadily increasing. Which means that more of the people who simply won't have anything but a Pontiac will be satisfied sooner.

If, in the meantime, you are ever tempted to take delivery of a more quickly available car, consider this: The things that made you want a Pontiac in the first place are still EXCLUSIVE TO PONTIAC! Nowhere else at any price can you get the same time-won reputation for dependability, long life and over-all economy. No other car offers the ever-fashionable "Silver Streak" beauty that lifts Pontiac out of and above the rest. None handles so sweetly—rides so comfortably. And none can parallel Pontiac's basic value—for no other car offers so much of everything you want for every dollar you invest.

You've been patient and loyal to Pontiac for some time now. So why not wait a little longer and get a great deal more? You'll be glad you waited.

Preventive Service Pays Off Every Time!

Just because you HOPE to get a new car soon, don't let your present car get into a dangerous state of disrepair. Having your car properly serviced pays off—not only in assuring you the safe, economical, dependable transportation you need, but also in protecting the used car allowance you will ultimately receive.

Major George T. Geran

DEATH of George T. Geran at his home Friday morning brought to a close a life marked by notable achievements in two fields—the legal profession and military service. In these he served both his community and his country ably and with honor.

Although he was an attorney of exceptional ability and as such was rated among the best city solicitors in Marion's history, this phase of his life doubtless is transcended by his record as an Army officer. His leadership of forces in the first World war was so distinguished that he is listed among the foremost of Ohio Army officers who served in that great conflict.

During a large part of America's participation in the war he was captain of a company made up mainly of Marion county men, all of whom regarded him with esteem and affection for his outstanding ability as a military leader and for his constant concern for the welfare and safety of the men under his command. These qualities were likewise recognized by his superior officers in the fighting forces and the result was his elevation to the rank of major.

This high regard for Major Geran and his merit as an Army officer could not be better expressed than was done yesterday by Hubert L. Taylor, Marion veteran of both World wars who recently retired from service with the rank of colonel. His comment was: "In my 24½ years of service I can say that of all the commanding officers I have had, he was the finest." That, according to the record and expressions from other men of military experience who have first hand knowledge of Major Geran's career, can be taken as an accurate and eloquent appraisal of him and his qualities as a man and as a leader of men fighting for their country. Certainly there could be no finer tribute than one coming from those who shared with him the dangers of warfare and who depended on him for able guidance and supervision.

Along with these spoken testimonials to Major Geran and his leadership, the record of battles and campaigns won by the forces of which he and his men were a part will stand as imperishable evidence of their valor, fighting unity and high morale. The Marion county soldiers and others under Mr. Geran, first as captain and then as major, were among the American forces which turned the tide of conflict against the Germans and kept it sweeping onward with increasing force and momentum until ultimate victory was achieved.

Its Day in Court

THE union labor movement is having its day in court. John L. Lewis and the lawyers arguing in his behalf are its spokemen.

There must be many labor executives, labor lawyers and members of the labor unions vaguely uncomfortable about the way this case is turning out. Perhaps Mr. Lewis himself is uneasy.

If he were to win his point, which would amount to proving to the complete satisfaction of the United States that no power, including the power of government, is sufficient to restrain him, there would be no celebration.

He then would have proved the necessity of going even farther than has been contemplated by anyone except organized labor's severest critics in revising the laws on which he claims immunity from restraint.

There is much more involved than the propriety of the United Mine Workers' procedure, or the status of the government in issuing restraining orders. This case involves the relationship between the sovereign authority of the United States and the claimed authority of executives of the American labor movement.

The law has ceased to be a cold abstraction forged from white-hot issues in the dead past and become a vital issue in the lively present. The question is whether or not government still has the power to act in behalf of the people against an organized minority of its citizens. The president of the United Mine Workers claims, in effect, that government lacks this power.

That was the union's position when it served abrupt notice on Secretary of Interior Krug that the government's contract with the union was being torn up. There was no attempt in advance to obtain a court ruling on the validity of the contract, which Secretary Krug had believed was binding as long as the government was operating the coal mines.

The union, as represented by its president, had taken the same position toward the government on previous occasions, when he acted in a manner that showed contempt for federal authority.

The Smith-Connally Act, which forbids a planned work stoppage under government operation, was spurned. All that mattered, it was made plain, was Mr. Lewis' determination to prove to his miners, to the government and to the American people that he was above public restraint in the leadership of his union and in leadership of the labor movement.

He has made significant progress with his proof. Everything has tended to prove his power. Whatever happens in his dealings with the federal court, the country now stands satisfied on all counts that it must find the means of restraining arbitrary uses of power by its John L. Lewises, either actual or potential.

The Only Way Out

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Weakened Government Must Turn To Arbitration.

JUDGE GOLDSBOROUGH came close to summarizing the paramount issue when he reminded the Lewis defense lawyer that when society attempted to protect itself against cold, hunger and disintegration, it was engaged in something more vital than a labor dispute. The weapons used or proposed in John L. Lewis' case illustrate how far government has dissipated its power to protect its own citizens. And this weakness will appear in an enlarged form as the issues now raised approach the supreme court.

Suppose, as has been suggested, the government should try to impose receiverships on the U. M. W. and its local and districts. The collection of fines out of the till will take time, and the public can't wait until the union has been exhausted by daily levies, even levies as large as $200,000 a day. These look big, but the union can hold out long enough to paralyze the country. It would take a dozen weeks to drain the national treasury of the union and still more weeks to drain the districts and locals. And the union and Lewis would comfortably depend on the supreme court to pay the money back.

The miners have refused and will refuse to trust the government to protect them if they go back to work. The union controls their jobs and would expel them for working. If the government did not see that the managers fired the men who would thus be expelled from the union, Lewis, under the law, would proceed against the government for unfair labor practices.

The government, in the beginning, did the spectacular thing of seizing the mines. Now it may do the spectacular thing of unseizing them. But that would merely continue the crisis. Some employers may give in to Lewis; others will close up. If all employers increase prices, a whole wave of new inflation will come.

In the field of new half-way legislation, the prospect is not good. President Truman's proposal, last spring, for a cooling-off period is no remedy for this sort of situation. Lewis is the master hand as the cooling-off business. He can cool us all off in December.

There's A Difference

The government, by a long succession of laws and court decisions, has so weakened itself that it can no longer perform its elementary duty of preventing disaster. And it has done this by failing to recognize the distinction between strikes that can be endured and those that cannot be endured.

It goes without saying that Lewis would never have approached this contest if the present court held the views of almost any earlier court in our history. He contends that the Norris-LaGuardia act does apply to a dispute in which the government is a party; also that the Smith-Connally act is unconstitutional. Nothing in the record of the majority of this supreme court offers any hope that Lewis' contentions will be denied.

Call for Legislation

The only answer is legislation so clear and explicit that even the supreme court cannot evade it. The answer is that industries whose continued operation is essential to public safety, health and order should have no strikes. That means compulsory arbitration in specified industries.

Compulsory arbitration does not mean the coming of a fascist state although such a cry will be raised by the pro-labor chorus. It means that, just as the owners of railroads, utilities and other industries are given the choice of abiding by government regulation or going into some other business, so are employes of essential industries given the choice of regulated employment or other employment. There is no other lasting preventative against such situations as exists today.

Besides, They Got Their Signals Mixed

Democratic congressmen have been given seats behind the end zone for today's Army-Navy game.

To the victors go the spoils, including, apparently, the ducats on the 50-yard line.

Gradually, defeated Democrats are making the transition back to private life. The greatest blow will come next January when they have to start buying stamps.

Seats in the end zone might not be so undesirable today. If the experts are right, most of the play will be down around Navy's goalline.

Next year, when the Republicans are actually in control of the ways and means committee, the only way for a Democrat to see the Army-Navy game will be in the newsreels.

The Democrats should have attended more football games. Then they'd have known you can't make gains with a second-string quarterback and a weak left end.

Truman's Coal Strategy

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—What Judge T. Alan Goldsborough may do in the case of John L. Lewis, only Judge T. Alan Goldsborough knows. But it must be said that what the President and his advisors hope will be done is singularly ingenious. Their desire is to inflict the maximum of pain on the coal miners' leader, while allowing him the minimum opportunity to display his overpowering dramatic arts in the role of the great martyr.

To meet these rather exacting requirements a rather careful stategy is needed. Obviously, it is inadvisable to clap John L. Lewis into jail. The ensuing performance would certainly give cause for envy to the Irish hunger strikers, Gandhi, and every other well-publicized prisoner in history. Equally obviously, the well-filled treasury of the United Mine Workers can meet any ordinary fine. Accordingly, what is hoped for is a double, cumulative fine, which would mount further with each day that Lewis and the United Mine Workers failed to purge themselves of contempt.

If the court reads the mind of the White House, Judge Goldsborough will rule that Lewis must pay some such sum as $1,000 while the mine workers put up perhaps one hundred times that amount for every twenty-four hours they refuse to obey his courts judgment. The actual sums may of course be more or less than those named above. But the amounts would be less important than the cumulative principle, which would daily bring the desirability of peace to the attention of Lewis and his staff. They would naturally appeal such a judgment to the higher courts. But this, in itself, would be a tremendous gamble. For if the appeal were not sustained, Lewis and the mine workers would be liable for all the fines accumulated during the time consumed by the legal process.

Held In Reserve

Meanwhile, criminal action against Lewis under the Smith-Connally act, which would permit sequestration of the mine workers' treasury, is being held as a reserve weapon. (The present suit, it must be understood, is civil in character, and represents an attempt to compel Lewis to abide by his contract with the government by a declartory judgment to this effect.) A second reserve weapon is the opening of the wartime oil pipelines from the West. This will be used last, because the flow of oil would take six weeks.

It can be seen from the foregoing that the White House strategy in the Lewis case is considerably better thought out than has been customary with President Truman in such emergencies in the past. The fact is that he has ceased to listen when Dr. John R. Steelman and certain other members of his circle give the advice of Mr. Micawber — "Something will turn up."

In the present instance, contrary to a report circulated earlier, Steelman was overruled at the White House In the crucial strategy meeting just prior to the President's first strong statement in the coal issue. Those present were the President, Steelman, Secretary of the Interior Julius Krug and the President's counsel, Captain Clark Clifford. Steelman, as usual, advocated compromise. He admitted Lewis' price was too high, but undertook to pare it down, obtain agreement and thus to avert a crisis. Krug flatly demanded a final showdown. Clifford reminded the President that only last May Lewis called the present contract the best he had ever won; pointed to the future consequences of present weakness, and supported Krug. The President came down firmly on the side of Krug and Clifford.

Since then, the warmth of the President's conviction has increased, so that even if compromise is still secretly hoped for by Steelman or others, the White House atmosphere is exceedingly unpropitious to discussion of the subject. He has been fully warned of the pressure that will be put on him (as well as Lewis) when the effects of the coal strike become serious. He has grimly declared that he would not be budged, give way to Lewis, either now or later. The only face-saving way of escape still open is, in fact, for Lewis to go behind the government's back and negotiate a contract with the coal operators. This is probably being encouraged behind the scenes by Steelman. The importance of getting the government out of the coal business was emphasized at the first White House meeting by Clifford. And if Lewis and the coal operators make a deal, the White House will be deeply pleased.

It is hoped, however, that such a deal will not set the pattern for another round of wage increases. In truth, the present conflict is not merely envisaged as a test between the President and Lewis, which has been long in preparation. It is also regarded as the best preventive of even more serious trouble later on. For if Lewis is somehow worsted, the CIO union leaders will not be forced to try to match his success. At the same time, declines in food and other costs which are expected to ensue if a sound coal settlement is made, will ease the cost of living problem. And thus it may be possible to avert the great round of strikes which now seems such a danger, and thereby to moderate the anti-labor hysteria now threatening the country.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Monday, Nov. 30, 1936.

A treasury study of over-lapping taxes disclosed that while the federal government was raising more than $2,000,000,000 from six sources of revenue the preceding year the states obtained more than $1,000,000,000 from the same sources.

Molotov Would Disarm U. S.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

IT DOES not reflect on the sincerity of Molotov's campaign for the reduction of armaments to say his proposals are designed astutely to strengthen the position of his own country. There need be no doubt he really wants the kind of disarmament he has proposed.

The immediate political advantage to the Soviet Union from the discussion is considerable. For Parliament and Congress are both reluctant to maintain large military establishments.

And if the proposals are agreed to, the military advantage might be decisive in determining the shape of the world settlement.

The core of the proposal is that the Soviet Union is willing to reduce her "powerful army . . . if powers possessing the largest naval and air forces" will "develop a corresponding activity in the matter of the reduction of armaments" including an agreement to prohibit "the use of atomic energy for military purposes." To enforce these agreements he is willing to have commissions to inspect.

Fundamental Difference

To understand the proposal we must bear in mind the fundamental difference between Russian military power and our own.

The strength of the Red Army is its immense reserves of infantry. The weapons of the Red Army are by present standards primative. They are easy to manufacture. Almost anyone can quickly be taught to use them.

The Red Army, moreover, is one that can march on its own feet towards any theater where it might wish to operate.

To reduce the Red Army is only to send the troops home. The army can be re-created in a few weeks by calling the troops back. Therefore, because the essential strength of the Soviets is in their man power, not in their technology, "disarmament" is for the Russians only a demobilizaton.

An army which has merely been demobilized can soon be mobilized again and therefore a reduction of the Red Army is no real reduction in the Soviet military potential.

Our own position is radically different. Our military power depends upon high specialized personnel operating extremely complicated weapons and machines.

The manufacture of these weapons and machines takes a long time. The training of the men to make them and use them takes a long time. Installations are required to exert our military power across the wide expanse of the oceans: they cannot be improvised quickly.

Therefore, if we stop making our complicated weapons and machines, if we do not maintain the installations to use them, if we do not train the specialists to operate them, we are in fact disarmed. We are not, like the Russians, merely demobilized.

Soviet Proposal

Thus Molotov's proposal is in its essence that the Soviet Union should demobilize and that we should disarm. If this proposal were adopted, the Soviet Union would indeed have every reason to insist upon effective inspection.

For inspection cannot alter the fact that Russian manpower can be mobilized by a decree calling men to the colors. But inspection to see to it that we did not maintain and develop our technological advantages would alter radically the balance of power.

The Soviet Union would remain capable of exerting its full strength at short notice and we should be incapable of exerting ours except after years of reconversion and preparation.

Thus in the fateful negotiations which have to be undertaken to achieve a general world settlement, Molotov's proposals would give to the diplomacy of the Soviet Union a decisive superiority of weight and force.

The Red Army, though demobilized, would be more than ever the preponderant military factor in Europe, the Middle East and the Far East.

For the countervailing force which now checks and balances it—namely our naval and air power including the atomic bomb—would be reduced or abolished.

Too much is at stake to justify us in being mealy-mouthed for fear of seeming not to be on the side of the angels and therefore opposed to immediate disarmament. Our own security and the stability of the world settlement depend upon our maintaining a true and effective balance of power at all the disputed points of the globe.

If we are wise, we shall tell Molotov we wish to discuss the reduction of all armaments only in a discussion of a world settlement; we do not wish to conclude agreements before we arrive at a world settlement; we are prepared to negotiate about armaments only if, when and as we can negotiate about the reconstruction of Europe around a reconstructed Germany, about the equilibrium of the Middle East, and about the international position of China and Japan in the Far East.

I do not believe we need be embarrassed by taking this line or need fear our own people or the other peoples of the world would misunderstand us.

For it would show we realize our interests and are vigilant to protect them and the leading place we occupy in the world will not be lost naively, sentimentally and lazily.

I venture to believe even in the Kremlin there would be engendered a certain enhanced respect by such a demonstration that we knew what was what.

UN and the Emblem Problem.

THE UN has been having emblem trouble. (Not enough to start a new global war. But it's been quite a disturbance.) It seems the emblem originally taken over at San Francisco showing a bird's-eye view of the globe, with America in the middle. That's where Americans feel hey are too often put, with curious appropriateness. But other nations didn't like the set-up on the emblem, and a new one had to be drawn up.

This time something described as an "azimuthal equidistant projection" of the globe is used. It lets everybody into the act except Antarctica. Europe and Asia no longer look at the emblem with the same feeling as the man who's just moved when the banquet photo was snapped.

* * *

So there will be no world carnage over a peace emblem, and we can all heave a sigh of relief. But we have our own ideas about emblems that might more accurately reflect UN in certain moods.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: A curious thing happened t night in the store. Because of the unusual ru of "customers" I was running wide open. Besid myself, there were Almayer Ford, Elmer Jac son, Bob Zimmer, Homer Leeds and Ned Krum That was two more than usual. Winter is co ing and the loafers are settling down.

Your aunt went to the bazaar at the chur and took my cash box with her, because she treasurer for the class. That was all right, b she also took the cash in the box, which left without any change. So while the boys w talking and the usual demand for pop, toba and candy was forthcoming I couldn't ma change.

I told them not to worry about it but to thr in whatever they had handy and it would co expenses. All of them know I play store to ha a loafing place for my friends anyway, so wh they left I pocketed the change they'd dropp in an empty cigar box and a little later I coun it.

It was an average of twice as much per m as I usually count on and I swear there was anything unusual about the way they drank smoked or ate candy. I finally have discover how to make ends meet. The store at last c become self-supporting. I'll have to cha straight rates for kids who come in to spe pennies, but for grownups I'll make the wh thing voluntary. They can pay whatever t think it's worth. There are times when a loaf bread is worth a half a dollar, I suppose.

I do not know why I never thought of t before. It is no different from the collect plante at church. They always get more by pa ing the plate than they'd get collecting fares the front door. Occasionally, they hit a chi but most of the customers give more than the pay. Furthermore, it makes them feel better.

It is a fine way to take advantage of the c tomer's desire to think he is in control of situation at all times. I do not mean my cus mers, who aren't customers but only fellow members. I mean customers in general. Ye ago I read about a chain of restaurants that g customers all they could eat at no extra pr Instead of eating more, the customers ate l on the average. They quit stuffing themse when they didn't have to in order to get t money's worth. These smorgasbord places op ate on the same principle. Did it ever occur you that a lot of things we take for gran about business practices might not be wo saving.

Unto Us a Child Is Born

A Sermonette
By DR. C. E. HERSHEY
Pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Isa. 9:6.

Once more we have reached the time of the year when the glad message will be outpoured in the hearts and minds of people. Christmas is and should be more than a mere holiday season to the believer. It should be a festival of hope. This spirit of hope should be laden with promises and prophecies of things to come. The babe in the manger should mean more to us than a mere babe—it should be God the Revealer of God; God manifest in the flesh.

Jesus Christ is the pre-eminent figure of our Christmas season. There will be a hopeless tangle and a puzzle. Therefore, let us in this season worship and adore the Mighty One, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace, the Wonderful One, the Child born, the Son given.

Birth a Miracle

During these days of false teaching we cannot overemphasize the truth of God's Word on the Virgin Birth. Truly Christ's birth was a miracle. God is the performer of miracles. Even our very existence depends daily upon the miracles of God. The earth's daily revolution, and the rising and the setting of the sun as it ensures; the nightly flashing of the distant stars; the tides and currents of the sea, the silently passing seasons of the year—are not these miracles? No miracle is too great for God.

In Isaiah 7:10 we find that Ahaz was to ask a sign and when he would not the Lord Himself gave the sign; "Behold a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." Isa. 7:14.

The Bebrew word, "Immanuel" signifies, "God with us." It set forth the nature and character in which Jesus Christ should come and be known. He is the God-man, the Word made flesh. It presents to us the work and mission of Christ and the Divine purpose of the incarnation. If He had not been Emmanuel—God with us—He could not have been the Saviour. By the light of nature we see God above us; by the light of Law we see Him as God against us; but by the glorious light of the Gospel we see Him as Immanuel, God with us, in our own nature and meeting man's human needs. He brings God and man together and the glorious salvation scheme is perfected.

From the time of Isaiah men watched for this sign which God promised. This promise was the hope not only of Israel but of the world.

Proof of Virgin Birth

"For unto us a child is born," unto us a son is given." Isa. 9:6. God gave His Son. This is ample proof of the virgin birth. God did not say, "Unto us a son is born, unto us a child is given." Jesus Christ was God's unspeakable gift to us. His birth was the supreme expression of the love which lay hidden in the heart of God before the pendulum of time began to swing.

He came as "a root out of a dry ground." Isa. 53.2. The law of nature requires moisture to make a seed grow. Here again we have proof of Christ's supernatural conception. He was truly the Son of God, yet made flesh. By His birth He became the Son of Man, born of woman, and therefore our Kinsman Redeemer.

Blood is the price of sacrifice. Sinless blood had to be shed for sinful man. Life is in the blood. All through the Old Testament we see the offering of blood from the bulls and goats. Each year this sacrifice had to be made. But in Christ's sacrifice the blood was incorruptible. Hebrews 9:13-15. The sacrifice was made once and for all. The miracle of Calvary completed the plan of salvation, because Christ was the virgin-born Son of God.

Christmas—the time when we celebrate the birth of the Saviour—should not be Christ-less. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." In the midst of your gift giving, stop and receive God's gift—His Son—as your personal Saviour. Believer, stop and give thanks—thanks unto God for His unspeakable Gift."

Jimmie Jingle Says:

It makes good friends and keeps them, too:
This surely is the bread for you.

BLAMES KILLING ON SPIRITS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Nov. 30—"The spirits moved me," Jack Wallo, 19, repeated yesterday at his arraignment on second degree murder charges in the shotgun slaying last Sunday of his sleeping brother, Joseph, 21. The accused spent four months as a Columbus state hospital inmate and was sent home last Jan 4 for a "trial visit." He was held for the grand jury without bond

HATS ARE ELEGANT, BEJEWELED, MULTI-COLORED

An elegant air is the keynote of a midseason hat collection that was recently shown by Laddie Northridge Gorgeous rich fabric, lush furs, extravagant feathers, jewel-studded silhouettes and exciting color combinations ran rampant For evening fabric was used with great detail. Gurrahs and turbans glistened with gold and sparkle. For the theater tiny pillboxes and small bicorne hats were suggested Some were detailed with feathers and others ornamented with jewels Three of Mr Northridge's models are shown above At the left is a high turban made of marigold red velvet, softly draped It is trimmed with natural pheasant feathers At the right is a Ubangi turban made of snow white felt, heavily jeweled in gold, pearls and emerald green sequins It is worn off the forehead and will add real glamor to special occasions Below is a late afternoon off-the-face hat of black velvet, with a heart shape and red, pink and white camellias for trim. TRUMAN AND WHITE HOUSE AIDS LEAVE FOR GAME

Special Train Takes Party To Army-Navy Contest.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov 30—President Truman and the first lady took a holiday today to attend the Army-Navy football game at Philadelphia

A gay crowd of cabinet officers and White House staff aids and their wives bought tickets for the two hour and 45-minute ride to the game aboard the Pennsylvania presidential special

As a neutral, the President will sit first on the Navy side, then change over to the Army stands for the last half

This is the third game of the football season for the President He saw the Army beat Oklahoma at West Point and the Navy lose to Penn State at Annapolis

The Pennsylvania railroad uses electric equipment utilizing hydro-electric power Under the circumstances it did not consider that the coal strike should affect its special trains to the game, railroad officials said.

FARLEY SEES G.O.P. CHANCE FAIRLY GOOD

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov 30—Republican prospects for capturing the presidency in 1948 are not as bright as the recent congressional landslide would indicate in the opinion of James A Farley who said even the landslide was not entirely pleasing to G O.P leaders

Farley, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, told reporters last night that he rated the chances of Governor Dewey of New York number one among six Republican leaders for the 1948 presidential nomination, but added, 'we have rarely voted out an administration when the country is prosperous and the people happy"

"The Republicans, despite their bragging, were not pleased at their success in carrying the senate,' said the Coca Cola board chairman who reached San Francisco at the end of a world-circling business trip "They would have preferred to have something for which they might criticize the Democrats"

Farley named as other G O P contenders Governor Bricker and Senator Taft of Ohio, Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Governor Warren of California

He predicted President Truman could have the 1948 Democratic nomination if he wanted it

A ROMANCE that started in London, England, in the summer of 1944 culminated in the marriage yesterday of Miss Edna Bruce Spence daughter of Mr and Mrs David Spence of Dagenham, England, to Lt Warren H. McGinnis son of Mr and Mrs Ivan T. McGinnis of 480 South State street She arrived in New York at 8 a m Saturday aboard a Pan American Clipper and was met there by Lt McGinnis The parents of Lt McGinnis had also gone to New York to greet their future daughter-in-law but the plane had been delayed a day and they had to return home Friday evening Miss Spence left London Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock Following her arrival, Miss Spence and Lt McGinnis flew to Columbus and then came to Marion by automobile

Lt McGinnis met his bride at a service club in London and since his return to the States Nov 19, 1944, has been trying to arrange passage for her to the United States Exactly two years from that date, Mr and Mrs McGinnis received a telegram here that she was coming

Born in Dundee, Scotland, Miss Spence has lived in England with her family for fifteen years Besides her parents she has two sisters and one brother Her father has been engaged in war work in England Miss Spence was employed in the office of Cook and Company in London

Enlisting in the service in August 1942 Lt McGinnis was inducted in February, 1943, and received his wings at Moody Field, Ga, Nov. 3, 1943 He served eight months overseas in Italy and England as a pilot, and is now stationed at Morrison Field, West Palm Beach, Fla., with the 55th Weather Reconnaissance of the Air Transport Command

On Nov 10, a short time before she left for the States, Miss Spence went to the Brookwood Cemetery near London where Staff Sgt. Marion Eugene McGinnis, son of Mr. and Mrs McGinnis and brother of Lt McGinnis is buried, having been killed in action Sept. 26, 1943, after completing his thirteenth mission Nov. 10 in England is known as "Remembrance Day," and placed a bouquet of flowers on the grave

For the couble ring ceremony read at 11 30 o'clock in the morning in the home of the bridegroom's parents, the couple stood before the mantle which was decorated with bouquets of white mums and white pompons and greenery. Rev M E Hoover, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran church, officiated

The bride was attired in a street length dress, and her jewelry was crystal earrings, a gift from the bridegroom, and a small locket, presented to her by friends in England before she left there. Her flowers were a corsage of pink roses. They were unattended.

A reception with only relatives and friends attending followed. After that they left on a wedding trip which will take them to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., where they will visit Mrs McGinnis' brother, Miss Spence, Thomas McGinnis, on to Washington, D C, and then to Florida where they will make their home for the present. For travel Mrs. McGinnis wore a gray wool dress with green trimming and black accessories.

Mrs McGinnis received congratulatory cables from her family in England on Thursday

Mr and Mrs McGinnis plan to attend the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia, Pa., Saturday afternoon. They will be joined there by Mr McGinnis' parents who left Marion Friday afternoon

Picture of Russian As Huge Man with Beard Debunked

...th of five articles about Russian life and government ...ess organization by Eddy Gilmore who has lived in the ...on for the past five years as Associated Press Chief of ... Moscow.)

By EDDIE GILMORE

...SCOW, Nov. 30 — The once ... conception of the Rus... a very huge man with a ... beard and high boots has been debunked numerous times, but this image still exists in the minds of many Americans.

The Russians are not a big people. They always comment on the ...re of Americans. As a race, Americans are much larger.

Russian men like to wear boots and the Russian cap, of cloth or ...ur. They do not like hats.

In summertime, thousands of Russians wear little gay-colored skull caps, but the plain blue serge cap always is in style. In winter, this often is changed to a caracul cap.

Women's hats here, like everywhere else, are unpredictable. They range from somber plain blacks to feathery explosions of color. In winter, many Russians, particularly women from the country, wear shawls over their heads and in summer a handkerchief. But there is brisk trade in modern headgear.

One distinguishing feature of men's suits is the Russian preference for short coats. The Russians also like gay ties and a large loose knot. Stripes are in vogue and a rainbow model gets many admiring glances.

Rubbers a Necessity

Because of the large amount of rain and snow, rubbers and galoshes are seen on millions of pairs of feet. The ancient Valenki, or felt boot, still is popular, even in the cities, especially in cold weather.

Taking into exception that there wasn't much for the consumer during the war, Russian girls and women dress about like American and English women.

High heels generally are preferred. Lipstick is used, but not much cheek rouge. Complexions here usually are real and blooming.

Women operate the mens' barber shops and the beauty shops which are plentiful and always busy.

For entertainment, the city Russian has the theater and a very good one at that. He has movies, concerts of every kind, public lectures, clubs, dances, restaurants and a lot of sport.

The theater in the Soviet Union is extremely popular and there are practically no empty seats. The same goes for the movies.

There are no night clubs as such, but many restaurants have floor entertainment and dance orchestras. These restaurants are treamendously popular. There are bars and pubs, too. One spacious and resplendent one on one of Moscow's main streets is called "Kowtail Zal." Wine is the most popular drink, with vodka, the national liquor, perhaps next, and then beer.

Drink Lots of Tea

Most of all, I'd say the Russian likes to drink tea. They drink it by the gallons. Talk and tea has been a national pastime for generations.

Sports take up a lot of time. The Russians have soccer, football, hockey, boxing, wrestling, weight lifting, ski racing, jumping, track, water polo, basketball, tennis and plenty of horse racing. There is no baseball or cricket.

Thousands upon thousands of Russians go to church regularly on Saturday night and Sunday morning. All churches are always packed.

The Russians are great readers. Newspapers and magazines play an important role in their daily life. All papers could print thousands of more copies than they do.

Much of the Russian housewife's day is spent in shopping. She must go to the ration store, the open market store, or the peasant market, all some distance from one another. This takes time—and money. The Russian man and boy works. When they come home, they expect a good meal.

Russians like to talk and argue and tell stories. They generally are excellent listeners. They are very social and they like to visit one another.

They have a great zest for holidays. The principal ones are the anniversary of the revolution on Nov. 7, New Year's eve, New Year's day, May 1 and Easter. Some attention is paid to the Russian Christmas on Jan. 7, but it is not a real national holiday.

MISSION TO CLOSE IN SUNDAY SERVICE

Will Conclude 2-Week Series at St. Mary Church.

Solemn closing of the men's mission held this week at St. Mary Catholic church will be conducted Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock with a sermon, praying of the rosary, renewal of baptismal vows, benediction and the receiving of the papal blessing. Rev. Walter Kaelin, C. P., who with Rev. Roland Maher, C. P. of Detroit, has conducted the two weeks' mission, will have the closing service. Rev. Maher left today for Detroit, where tomorrow he will open a mission in one of the city's large churches. Tonight Rev. Kaelin will talk on "The Meaning of the Mass."

Rev. Maher preached the sermon and gave the instructions at last night's service, basing his talk on the infinite mercy of God and His dealings with humanity.

Rev. Maher, a missioner for more than 20 years, and Rev. Kaelin, secretary of the Provincial of the Passionists Congregation in Chicago, are members of the Passionist order, known as the Congregation of the Passion, which has as its special mission the giving of missions and retreats. Last week a mission for women was held and also a mission for the children of the parochial school was conducted during the day.

Jinnah To Attend London Conference

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI, Nov. 30—Finance Minister Liaquat Ali Khan, secretary of the Moslem league, today announced after a meeting with Viceroy Lord Wavell and Mahomed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem league, that Jinnah definitely would participate in the London parley on India's political problems.

The two Moslem league officials conferred with the viceroy for a half hour.

The party will take off for London tomorrow, Liaquat Ali said. Earlier there were persistent rumors that Jinnah had decided not to attend the London meeting.

GERMAN ORDERED REMOVED

By The Associated Press

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Nov. 30 — The Duesseldorf organization commission has ordered the removal of Alfred Hugenberg, former German politician and industrialist, from all his offices and executive positions, it was announced today.

Foods have been frozen by industrial processes since the beginning of this century, with the greatest strides made in the last few years.

Strike of Major Radio Stars Thought Averted

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—A threat of a strike of major radio stars diminished today after leaders of the four major networks and the AFL-American Federation of Radio Artists announced they believed they had resolved the principal issues involved in a dispute over a new contract.

A joint statement said details would be revealed only after all points in a proposed two-year contract had been settled. The radio performers have continued to work under terms of the old contract.

MOTHER KILLS TWO GIRLS, ONE ESCAPES

By The Associated Press

PHILLIPSBURG, Kas., Nov. 30—A middle-aged mother, who later tried to slash her throat with a butcher knife, shot and killed two of her daughters in their farm home near here early Thanksgiving morning, Sheriff W. A. Hobbs said today.

Alice, 20, and Ruth, 15, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Schemper, were dead, and Sheriff Hobbs said members of the family told him this story:

Schemper, the father, was in the barn milking. His wife entered a bedroom, where Ruth and her brother Loren, 9, were sleeping. She shot Ruth. The boy struggled with his mother and fled.

Alice and Elaine, 17, another daughter, were awakened by the shot and as they ran into the room, Alice crumpled to the floor from a second shot.

The mother then told Elaine, "I'm going to kill you, too." But the gun apparently jammed and Elaine wrested it from her mother and fled to a neighbor's home.

The mother was found later in her night clothes in a nearby pasture.

Assault Blamed On Hot Union Vote Race

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 30—A spirited campaign for the position of director of District 28 of the CIO-United Steelworkers Union was blamed today for an assault and battery charge filed in municipal court by a unionist against the president of another union local.

In the charge, Paul Evans, recording secretary of local 1418, asserted he was attacked in the parking lot of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. while leaving work at the plant, and declared that Mike Pochiro, local 1331 president, was responsible for the assault.

An avowed supporter of Steelworker James P. Griffin, district staff representative and candidate for district director, Evans said the incident resulted because Pochiro was supporting James C. Quinn for reelection.

Prospect Motorist Fined, Loses License

George B. Shriver, 39, of Prospect was fined $100 and costs and had his driving license suspended for three years by Kenneth Robinson, acting municipal judge, today after he pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated. He was arrested by police on South Prospect street at 7 p. m. yesterday.

Moose Moos To Amuse Youths

By The Associated Press

DARBY, Mont.—Moose are traditionally tough customers and are treated with respect even by hunters armed with heavy rifles, but here's what happened here the other day when a big cow moose wandered into town: First she amused children by cavorting among swings and teeter-totters in a school play yard. Then she jumped a fence to mingle with domestic cattle only to be put to flight by the charge of a Jersey heifer.

REVEALS PHILIPPINE AND U. S. AGREEMENT

By The Associated Press

CAMP O'DONNELL, LUZON, P. I., Nov. 30—Philippine President Manuel Roxas declared today in a national Heroes' day address that an agreement had been reached permitting the United States to establish bases in the islands for mutual defense.

Speaking to the United States Army's reformed division of the Philippine Scouts, Roxas said "we have an agreement with the United States permitting her to establish bases here for the mutual defense of our two countries."

No other announcement, either in Manila or Washington, has yet been made that the final agreement over the establishment of bases has been reached by the two governments.

The president declared that the Filipino Scouts, who were virtually wiped out in the Bataan campaign and since reestablished as the United States 12th (Caribou) division, "will be used chiefly to man these bases."

Roxas told the troops that at the next session of the Philipine congress he would recommend an amendment to the Philippine citizenship law, permitting members of the scouts to retain their Philippine citizenship. He termed it "unfortunate" that the present laws withdraw the right of citizenship from a Filipino who has joined the United States army.

U. S. Thanks Swiss Army For Rescuing Americans

By The Associated Press

BERN, Nov. 30—The United States government has thanked the Swiss army air force and other organizations for "the heroic rescue" of 12 Americans from a stranded plane on a glacier near Meiringen Nov. 24.

The American minister to Switzerland, Leland Harrison, delivered a note of thanks to the Swiss political department after calling on the Swiss president, Doctor Karl Kobelt.

300 AT BOOTH FESTIVAL HERE

$8,231 in Cash and Supplies Gathered for Methodist Institutions.

Nearly 300 Youth Fellowship members and pastors from Methodist churches of the eastern part of the Lima district were present for the Booth festival held in Wesley Methodist church here Friday. Booths were erected in the church basement depicting themes of social service, and representing a total of $8,231 in cash and supplies gathered for the Methodist Children's home at Worthington and for Flower hospital in Toledo. An afternoon session and evening banquet session were held.

Basis of Judging

Judged as to four classifications, the booths were rated on composition and on value represented. Fellowships groups which attained 100 per cent or better on their quotas on value were given awards.

First, second and third places in the various classfications were awarded as follows, originality, First church, Kenton, Prospect Street church, Marion, and Green Camp; message, John Stewart church, Upper Sandusky, Roundhead and West Mansfield; beauty, Harper church, Grant church and Wesley church, Marion; and value, Fairview church and churches of the Epworth charge of Kenton.

In value, the Fairview church of the Alger charge gave 400 per cent of its quota, making up the amount of the quota for the enire charge. Percentage of giving over quota for the Kenton Epworth charge was listed as Epworth church, 174, Silver Creek church, 175, and Wolf Creek church, 159. Other churches given honorable mention for overreaching quotas were LaRue and New Bloomington and Meeker. Total giving for the hospital was $6,660, and for the children's home, $1,571. Rev. Cecil Fogle of Upper Sandusky presented the awards. Rev. H. M. McAdow was host pastor.

Program Presented

Epworth church of Marion presented the afternoon worship program with a choral speaking response, speaker in the afternoon was Dr. J. M. Versteeg, district superintendent, and the banquet speaker was Dr. James W. Rae, head of the physical therapy department of Flower hospital. Taking part in the worship service were Patricia Zahn, James Rea, Don Zeisler, Mrs. Irene Moore, Anna Baldwin, Arlene Houpt, and Mrs. C. H. Indoe, and Marjorie Pfeifer of Kenton sang, accompanied by Thelma Smith.

Announcement was made of the district recreation school to be held in Epworth church at Kenton Dec. 14, and of the Midwinter institute to be held Jan. 11 and 12 in Epworth church, Marion.

Santa Claus Parade Assistants Listed

The Marion Chamber of Commerce today listed the names of persons who assisted in Friday's Santa parade. They were Harry Margwrath, J. J. Lloyds, John Artopoeus and Charles Miller.

Tractors used to pull the floats were furnished by Montgomery Ward and Co., Campbell Farm Supply and the Farmers Implement and Supply Co.

Earl N. Hale was in charge of the Y.M.C.A. boys wearing the "big heads," and Miss Marjorie Eymon in charge of the Girl Reserves on the patriotic float. Arthur H. Smith directed the 4-H club floats and Owen Meddles the Boy Scouts.

Why Mother Eve Had No Wrinkles

By The Associated Press

COLLEGE PARK, Md.—Russell C. Hawes likes apples. On the occasion of "Apple Week" in Maryland, the marketing specialist of the University of Maryland wrote 'It is said 'three apples a day keep the wrinkles away.' Apples help to firm up the body tissues. So ladies who are worried because the skin of your face may tend to sag had better eat plenty of apples and, of course, that goes for you who are reducing. Your grandmother in the Garden of Eden chose an apple. For health, nutrition, and economy, eat more apple. Help utilize our large crop of 'Earth's Loveliest Fruit'."

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Refrigerator and Stove

Q. My refrigerator and stove (both electric) have turned cream color in places. Is there some way of restoring the original whiteness?

A. Try this method: Wash the surfaces with mild soap and warm water, rinse with a solution of Javelle water, using about three tablespoonfuls in a quart of water, and wipe dry. If this does not whiten the surfaces, ask the dealer from whom you bought the units to suggest some other way.

Paint Peels Off Blinds

Q.: The paint on our wooden blinds on the east side of our house is peeling. This is the third time paint has curled from the wood. How should the blinds be painted to prevent a repetition of the same troubole?

A.: Paint will peel when it is put on over damp or wet surfaces, or if the wood was improperly primed. In your case peeling may be caused by leaving some part of a blind unpainted, such as the top or bottom, or some open joints were not puttied. Before repainting, remove all old paint down to the bare wood. Then prime the wood with a coat of paint thinned as directed on the can, or apply a coat of aluminum paint. Fill all open joints, cracks, crevices, nail or screw holes with putty; then finish with two coats of a good quality outside house paint. Be sure all edges are well painted. Allow plenty of time for each coat to dry before applying the next coat. Do not work in damp weather. The air should be moderately warm and dry.

Blistered Flat Roof

Q.: The covering on my flat roof was put on about five years ago. Recently several bulges have appeared. Can I preserve the roof by brushing on some sort of preparation, and how should the bulges be treated?

A.: First, make a slit in the center of the bulge (blister) to permit asphalt mastic roofing cement to be introduced and spread heavily on the surface underneath. Then press the blister down and place weights over it for several hours. To preserve the roof covering give it a coat of asphalt roof coating. Do this work in dry, warm weather.

TAKE YOUR TIME

Don't be in too much of a hurry when you use paint and varnish remover. Give it time to soften the coating. The old paint or varnish then should be easy to scrape off.

RETIRING PRESIDENT OF CLUB HONORED

Elmer Compton Resigns as Head of Y's Men.

Honoring Elmer Compton, until recently president of the Marion Y's Men's Service club, a special program was presented at the weekly meeting of the club Wednesday night in the Y M. C. A. He resigned from the presidency because he has accepted a position as head salesman for the retail division of the Columbus branch area of the H. J. Heinz Co., located in Columbus

Mr. Compton, who served part of two terms as president, was advanced to the office after it was left vacant by resignation of William Isaly, who moved to Ft. Wayne, Ind., then was elected to the presidency last May. Taking his place as club president is Louis B. Conkle, who was first vice president. Richard Myers, former second vice president, was promoted to first vice president, and a new second vice president is to be appointed in the near future, it was announced.

The program was a "mock" radio broadcast with singing and speeches. Charles Harmon presided, and Mr. Compton and Mr. Conkle spoke. A certificate of appreciation, signed by the members of the club, was presented Mr. Compton, together with a gift.

Guests were William Luke Jr., Theadore Creager, Evan Phillips, and a former member, Kenneth Harris. There will be no meeting next week because of the football banquet scheduled for Tuesday night, it was announced.

Harding Opens Cage Season With 39 to 30 Victory Over Delaware

Presidents Show Good Form in Turning Back Visiting Willis Team.

By GEORGE ROEST

Harding's Presidents clipped the Delaware Panthers' claws last night at the Edison gym and led by Henry Field's 17-point barrage set the visitors down 39 to 30. The gymnasium was packed by the alloted 250 spectators.

Harding jumped to an early lead, outscoring the visitors in every quarter but the last and leading 13 to 8 at the end of the first frame. Nine points were added in the second while Delaware was limited to four charity tosses. Harding led 33 to 22 at the end of the third frame and wound things up, scoring six points against Delaware's eight.

Prexie ball handling last night was deceptive. Both teams missed a fair number of shots. Harding showed an aggressiveness that saw them in control of bank boards and breaking up many Delaware plays. Fields led in scoring by dropping in eight field goals and one foul shot while center Bell of the visitors hit five times from the free line and sank three field goals to be runner-up for scoring honors with 11 points.

Jim Riley, who was to score eight points in the first half, his total for the night, broke the ice by dropping in one from close up to put the Prexies in the lead which they held throughout the game. Jim Rea toed the mark from 15 yards out to lengthen the Prexies lead. McClave of Delaware then dropped in two points and Riley dropped in a charity toss and free throw to further boost the Prexie lead. Louder tallied two points and Rea and Fields combined for three.

McClave made it six for his squad and Harding went on to 13 points on a pair of charity tosses by Riley and one by Kramer. McCracken in the meantime had dropped in a field goal. Harding led at the end of the quarter 13 to 8.

Second Quarter

Bell opened scoring in the second quarter by sinking a gratis toss. Riley again opened things up for Harding with a field goal. Louder got one from the free throw line. Coss for Harding and Craig for Delaware dropped in free throws.

Harding climaxed its scoring on field goals by Fields and Rea and McCracken sank a free one to wind up scoring in the half, Harding leading 22 to 12.

Fields opened scoring in the third quarter, coming in fast for a goal. Delaware scored three charities, two by Bell and one by Louder and Bell connected for a two pointer before Harding was able to draw blood again. Harding scored on a goal and a foul by Fields and Delaware wound up its scoring for the quarter, Bell and Welch sinking goals and Bell hitting for another free one. Fields accounted for four more points and Riddle slipped one in between them. Harding led by 11 points with 33 at the end of the third quarter.

The final frame saw the Presidents scoring the first, fourth and sixth field goals on shots by Clark, Fields and Riddle.

Final Frame

Delaware scorers in the final frame were Johnson, Loader, McCracken, and Bell wound the scoring up with a foul toss and a field goal. Coach Bohyer played his reserves for the last few minutes and although they were unable to score, Delaware also was held down.

In the Jay-Vee game Coach Kenny Somerlot used all 18 members of his squad in downing the Delaware sophomores 29 to 24. Keebaugh, Delaware right guard, led scorers with eight points and Dick Gherman for the Vice Presidents scored six points. Next high in scoring were Hoffman and Lattimore. Harding led by only one point at the end of the first quarter, 7 to 6, but increased the lead to 25 to 15 at the end of the third frame.

Wesleyan's Diamond On "Love Story" Team

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Nov. 30—Ohio Wesleyan's "ace of diamonds" grid center who George Gauthier calls the best defensive center in the state, Jim Diamond, Geneva, O., junior, won a place on the New York Sun's special "All" eleven. Jim, who played a great game of football at center, suddenly found himself picked at quarterback on the Sun's "Love Walked In" eleven.

The Sun told a complete love story with eleven names of gridders, starting with Moon, Malden, Romeo, and down the line to Diamond at quarterback, Bride and Groome at the halves and Papa at fullback. The "All" eleven was one of a group picked by Ed Nace, Altoona, Pa., grid statistician.

ALL-STARS WIN

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 30—The college all-stars, made up mostly of "rookies" in the National Basketball league, regained their mastery in the annual collegiate-professional basketball all-star series last night, defeating the Fort Wayne, Ind, Zollners 57-54 in an overtime game. The collegians dumped in five points in the extra session before a packed house of 23,778 fans in Chicago stadium.

LOS ANGELES RAMS TO HELP PICK TOP TEAM IN NATIONAL

Last Year's Champions To Meet Giants in New York City Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—Although they have missed their chance to repeat as champions of the National Football league, the Los Angeles Rams may take a hand in deciding the 1946 winner when they play the New York Giants, eastern division leaders, here tomorrow.

Washington's Redskins, trailing the Giants by one game in the eastern race, will be host to the Green Bay Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers, only half a game behind the Redskins, invade Philadelphia to battle the Eagles.

In the only other National league contest scheduled tomorrow, the Chicago Bears, who already have the western division championship for the eighth time, entertain their crosstown rivals, the Chicago Cardinals.

In the All-America conference, where the New York Yankees and Cleveland Browns already have won the division titles and will meet in Cleveland Dec. 22 for the championship, the play this weekend is spread over a five-day span.

The Yankees downed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 21-7, Thursday to start it off. The Chicago Rockets meet the San Francisco 49ers on the latter's field this afternoon.

It will be Buffalo at Los Angeles tomorrow with Cleveland at Miami Monday night.

OHIO STATE GRIDDERS SELECT ALL-STARS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30—In choosing an all-opponents team, Ohio State's Bucks proved as unpredictable in their selections as they were on the football field naming four players from a Northwestern team Ohio State beat 39-27 only three from a Michigan squad that walloped O.S.U. 58-6.

Purdue rated two places and Illinois and Wisconsin one each on the team announced last night. Bob Chappuis, Michigan halfback, got a unanimous vote of 37.

The choices and number of votes received:

Ends: Isaiah Owens, Illinois, 28; Lenny Ford, Michigan, 23.

Tackles: Barry French, Purdue, 25; Bill Ivy, Northwestern, 18.

Guards: Dick Barwegen, Purdue, 26; Ed Higsch, Northwestern, 17.

Center: Fred Negus, Wisconsin, 23.

Halfbacks: Bob Chappuis, Michigan, 37; Vic Schell, Northwestern, 28.

Fullback: Art Murakowski, Northwestern, 14.

INTERNATIONAL FARM SHOW OPENS TODAY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 — Blacked out by four years of war, the international livestock exposition—farmland's world's fair—opened today for its first post war showing of the agricultural achievements of the United States and Canada.

The raw materials from which come the finished products that fill the nation's market baskets—bellowing steers, bleating sheep, plump pigs, and samples of the finest wheat, corn and oats on the North American continent—filled the huge international amphitheater to capacity.

Entries from 41 states and Canada, totaling 10,490 cattle, horses, sheep and swine, presented a gigantic task for the livestock judges who will give the nod to the show's champions. Grain judges, likewise, were confronted with 3,000 samples of choice farm crops from which to select the wheat, corn, oat and barley kings.

William Ogilvie, the exposition's acting manager, said blue-blooded stock brought to the show was valued at more than $5,000,000. Winning exhibitors of both livestock and grains will carry away more than $100,000 in awards.

Attesting to the ever increasing importance of youth in the exposition was the record number of baby beeves entered in the junior livestock feeding contests.

Breaking all pre-war records, 4-H club boys and girls from 13 states brought 1,425 steers to the show to vie for the coveted honor of junior champions. The winners and runnersup will be eligible to compete next week against adults for grand championships of the show.

CHAMP BOND SELLER DIES

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Nov. 30—Gaston G. Gross, 55, who was credited with selling more than $7,000,000 in war bonds during the war, was dead today and the curtain was drawn over "Gassy's Fox Hole," his bond-selling headquarters barricaded with sandbags. Gross, who died of a heart attack yesterday, was the owner of a small store here which was "protected" by rows of sandbags and displayed German and Japanese war souvenirs captured by local servicemen. He also promoted a vaudeville show, the "Fox Holes Follies," to expedite bond sales.

College Suggests Stagg May Step Out as Coach

By The Associated Press

STOCKTON, Calif., Nov. 30—The College of the Pacific suggested today that it might be better for Amos Alonzo Stagg, 84-year-old dean of American football coaches, to step down after more than half a century of active coaching but left the decision up to him.

Taking official notice of recurrent reports that the veteran coach was nearing the end of his active work on the gridiron, James H. Corson, the college's dean of personnel, said:

"We feel that it would possibly be better for him, the boys, and the school if he left some one else take over the active coaching of the team, but that decision has to come from Mr. Stagg."

Stagg, in San Diego with his Tigers for today's game, commented tersely:

"Any statement in this matter must come from Chancellor Knoles." Knoles was away from the college today.

Tippy Dye Eyes Buck Freshmen

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 30—Two freshmen have a good chance of being in Coach Tippy Dye's starting line-up for Ohio State when the Bucks open their basketball season here a week from tonight against Pitt an opponent they beat twice last year.

The freshmen are forward Les Pugh, who captained Middletown's 1944 high school champions, and guard Jim Harris of East Liverpool, the shortest man on the squad at 5 feet, 9 inches.

Other likely starters are Capt. Paul Huston of Xenia, a three-letter winner at guard; Bob Winters, a sophomore and another Xenia Central High school alumnus, at forward; and John Underman, a 6-foot, 8-inch junior letter winner from Columbus, at center.

This tentative line-up, in which Harris is the only player under 6 feet, 3 inches, will be supported by Bob Bowen, a two-letter winner from Martins Ferry, and Stuart Jones, Columbus sophomore, at forwards; Jack Pfeiffer, a Toledoan from the 1944-45 varsity, at center; and Wayne Wells of Lima and Dick Campbell of Columbus at guards.

The remaining five players in Dye's select 15 are Jim Wells of Middletown, Bob Raidiger of Waverly and Bob Donham of Hammond, Ind., forwards; Herb Russell of Raymond, guard; and Nell Johnston of Chillicothe, center. Wells and Donham are sophomore and Raidiger, Russell and Johnston are freshmen.

After next week's game at State Fairground Coliseum, the Buck cager will not be home again until this conference lidlifter with Minnesota Jan. 4. In the interval they will make their first trip to the Pacific coast since 1939, meeting Washington and California in two games each.

Hardin County Farmers Pushing Conservation

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., Nov. 30 — Hardin county farmers have taken advantage of the agricultural conservation program for the construction of tile ditches to assure better drainage for crop land.

According to Harley Schick, county AAA chairman, 2,478 rods of tile ditches have been laid in conjunction with the AAA program in 1946, by Hardin county farmers.

The tile ditch saves farmers time—weed growing time—because a properly tiled field dries quickly after a rain, permitting farmers to cultivate the ground quicker.

NEW INDIAN SCOUT

By The Associated Press

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 30—Ivy Griffin, manager of the Greenville, (S.C.) Team of the South Atlantic league last summer, is now a scout for the Cleveland Indians of the American league. Griffin, former major league first baseman, said in yesterday's announcement that he would operate chiefly in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Florida.

St. Mary Cagers Ready To Open Play at Bucyrus Monday Night

says this year's squad is shaping up well and he expects to have a successful season.

Coach Fetter, who will lead his

This afternoon St. Mary held its final workouts for its opening basketball game at Bucyrus Monday night. The game was originally scheduled for Tuesday night but was moved up to Monday so that players who were also on the football team would be able to attend the banquet at the Masonic temple for Marion's high school football teams Tuesday. For the parochial school this will include practically every player now with the cage squad.

Bucyrus long a foe of Harding on the hardwoods is a new addition to the Irish schedule. Last season they suffered defeat at the hands of the Presidents twice. Coach Al Peser has six lettermen back from that squad. He team through a 20 game schedule this season, has two lettermen from last year's squad and an acquired letterman from Jackson, O. His lettermen from last season are Pat Bray and Dick Schuler. Bray was one of the pace setters for the Irish last season, who after winning 14 out of 19 games went to the semi-finals in the district class B tournament only to be beaten by Magnetic Springs. Magnetic Springs won in the play-off. Bray played forward last season but has been shifted to center this year. The letterman from Jackson is Bob Stuber who showed his athletic ability on the football field. He will play a guard position for the Irish.

St. Mary has been working out on the Y. M. C. A. gym floor and practice got underway in earnest a week after the football season ended. For the opening tilt the Irish have been working on a fast breaking offense and plan to use both the man for man and zone defenses.

Coach Fetter has 22 on his squad and plans to carry 10 on the varsity and 12 on the reserve team. The boys he will pick his squad from are Walter Anderson, Lynn Huber, Bob Stuber, Dick Schuler, Dick Drake, John Granger, John Baldauf, Gene Norris, Jim Moloney, Bob Pruzzo, Bob Armbuster, Paul Cusick, Kevin Krigbaum, Richard Tarantelli, Dick Jenner, Frank Klaus, Dan Smith, Pat Bray, Ed Burke, Dick Weiss, Bob Cusick, and Paul Bray.

PLEASANT WINS TWO GAMES AT RICHWOOD

Pleasant's cagers remained undefeated this season by spoiling Richwood's home opener with a 48 to 28 victory last night. Mayers of the visitors led all scorers, sinking eight goals and dropping in four gratis tosses for a 20 point total. Pleasant's reserve kept the home town crowd disappointed with a 26 to 13 win over Richwood's sophomores.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30 — A story related here from down New Orleans way says Army showed considerable interest in the Sugar Bowl invitation but insisted on the provilege of either picking its own opponent or rejecting any team it considered undesirable... The finger, of course, was pointed right at the southeastern conference and its openly-awarded athletic scholarships...Seems a lot of Cadets really are interested in going home for the holidays—their only chance—but were willing to forego that because Glenn Davis was so eager to play at Pasadena.

Carolina Bound?

Bishopville, S. C., Doc Blanchard's home town, turned out a pretty good high school football team for a village of 3,000 population this fall. Now Bishopville is planning for a bowl game for its kids and wants Blanchard, Arnold Tucker and Glenn Davis to officiate...Bishopville, incidentally, claims to have a successor to Doc in J. W. Jones, high school tailback, who completed 114 passes in 138 attempts this season.

Weak End Items

The Texas Christian U. basketball brochure, just arrived, has the name of "Honest Bill" Rosenblatt, former Brooklyn college and Long Island U. player, carefully crossed off the list. How come?...Joe Louis' autobiography, "My Life Story," which isn't to be published here until January, already has begun to appear serially in the London Sunday news.

World Series of Bowling Under Way in Chicago

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 — The "World series of Bowling" began today with 144 big league stars from 72 cities in 23 states battling for first prize of $2,000 and recognition as the sport's individual match game champion.

The nine-day marathon is sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America.

This is the sixth annual pinspilling meet, with both the 1945 and 1944 champion automatically seeded into the semi-finals. They are Joe Wilman, the defending champion, and Buddy Bomar, both of Chicago.

Young Army Airman Takes Orlando Lead

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 30 — Young Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., who chalked up 32 missions over Japan as an Army airman, held a two-stroke lead today as play began in the third round of the $10,000 Orlando open golf tournament.

The easy-swinging Carolinian put together cards of 65 and 58 on successive days for a 133 total. Ray Hill of Shreveport, La., also an air corps veteran, held second place with 135.

The 18-hole winner will be played tomorrow.

FINDLAY CAGERS WIN

By The Associated Press

FINDLAY, Nov. 30—Findlay college opened its home cage season last night with an easy 67-31 win over Giffin Junior College of Van Wert, O. Guard Russ Ammons netted 10 points to tie guard Bob Beerbaurer of Giffin for individual honors. Findlay led at halftime 25-13.

OHIO JUNIOR LIGHTWEIGHT MATCH SET IN AKRON

Harry Hart and Sammy Berch To Meet Dec. 11.

AKRON, O., Nov. 30—Harry Hart of Columbus and Sammy Birch of Cincinnati will battle here Dec. 11 for a title belt representing the Ohio junior lightweight boxing championship, promoter Walter Moore reported today.

Hart and Birch won impressive victories in headlines scheduled at eight rounds at the armory last night as the Columbus slugger kayoed Roy Lewis, Muncie, Ind., policeman, in the second frame and Birch won a split decision over Akron's Dave Marsh.

Hart, 130½, sent Lewis to the deck for the nine count in the opening round and uncorked a crashing right to the jaw at 2:23 of the second stanza which flattened Lewis. 139. Marsh, 137, rallied in the late rounds but couldn't overcome a knockdown at the hands of Birch, 134, in the opening frame.

Eddie Elton, 162½, hard-hitting Akron middleweight, copped his 12th straight victory by outpointing Chris Tabor, 158, Niles, O., in a third eight-rounder before 1,412 fans who paid $2,980.

In six-rounders, Sherman Washington of Columbus, O., decisioned Dan Kelly, 176, Cleveland, and Jackie Taylor, 133, Pittsburgh, knocked out Fred Bernhardt, 138, Akron.

Mexico To Inaugurate First Civilian President

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30— Miguel Aleman, whose platform stresses industrialization based mainly on private initiative, will become the first civilian president in Mexico's history tomorrow.

The 43-year-old ex-lawyer, the nation's second youngest chief executive, will be inaugurated at noon in Mexico's cultural center, the white marble Palacio De Bellas Artes, in the presence of outgoing President Manuel Avila Camachio and some 3,000 other persons.

Aleman, in politics only 16 years, defeated three opponents last July 7 in what Mexicans termed the first national election in which votes really were counted.

The Mexican president serves six years at a yearly salary and expenses totaling $24,216.

Board's Report Critical Of Union County Home

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 30 — The five-member board of visitors of Union county have filed a sharply critical report with the probate court, county prosecutor, and the state welfare department on the conditions they found in the Union county home.

Signed by Peter Fisher, president, Mignon Forry, secretary, and Irene Rowling, Ruth Kreabaum, and William Faulkner, the report stated that pigs were uprooting the front lawn of the institution, that the Superintendent and Matron were not present as often as necessary; that there was a lack of warm covers and sheets; that the building itself contained numberless rats and a leaky roof; and a very unsatisfactory condition existed in the case of a bed patient who was alone in a fawing with absolutely no way of giving any signal for help.

In Memory

★In loving son and brother, Carl Emerson Depriest, who departed this life Nov. 30, 1937.

We could our tears in sorrow

When God recalls His own,
And He's them leave a world of sorrow
For an immortal home?
Pain sits no longer on his brow
Nor lies the calm of death;
Oh how we miss Carl
As the years go fleeting by.
Home is not home without you
As we enter with a sigh.
Though our hearts are torn and bleeding,
Through faith we see His hand;
By grace we'll meet you, Carl,
Yes Jesus in that far land.

Sadly missed by Parents, Brother and Sisters.

In Loving Memory

★Of our husband and father, Mr. Frank W. Cass, who passed away one year ago, Nov. 28, 1945.

This day brings sad memories
Of our loved one gone to rest,
And those who think of him each day
Are the ones who loved him best.

No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who lost can tell
Of the grief we bear in silence
For the one we loved so well.
Friends may think that we forget him
When they see us smile,
But little do they know the sorrow
That is hid behind a smile.

Wife and Children.

The party will be under the guidance of Miss Kit Fox, director of WLW's special broadcast services division, who has been in charge of conducting the essay contest. Bernie Musnik, of the WLW New York offices will also help in guiding the party while in the city.

Announced Over Air.

Announcement of Miss Foreman as one of the three winners was made Sunday on a special broadcast by James D. Shouse, president of the Crosley Broadcasting Corp., Cincinnati.

Miss Foreman submitted her 1,000-word essay in answer to the question: "How Can WLW Best Contribute To The Interest in and Understanding of the United Nations?"

Other winners are Hedvika Lucas, 16-year-old student of Cuyahoga Falls, O., and Edward R. Bartlett, dean of DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind.

Teacher To Go

Miss Lucas was born in Czechoslovakia and came to this country with her parents in 1942 after fleeing Nazi domination in Europe and surviving two shipwrecks in the Atlantic. She spoke no English until she came to the U. S. She will be accompanied by her high school English teacher, Mrs. Virgie Irwin, at the insistance of Hedvika's parents.

Dean Bartlett, who will be accompanied by his wife, is presently celebrating his 24th year as a member of the DePauw University faculty.

Planes will also pick up these two other winners in their respective cities and fly them to Cincinnati where the party will gather to be flown on the same day to New York.

All transportation and accommodations for the winners and their escorts have been made by WLW.

Official Escorts

While in New York, the party will stay at the Greystone hotel. With special guides, the group will be accompanied by Christopher Cross and Benjamin Cohen, both American officials attached to the Assembly. Special arrangements for the WLW essay contest winners have been made for their attendance at the United Nations committee meetings at Lake Success and the large assembly where 51 delegates of the UN gather in Flushing. Private meetings with various dignataries and delegates of the Assembly are also arranged for the WLW party.

The group will remain in the east four days and return by American Airlines and thence again by plane to their respective homes.

Judging panel for the contest was made up of four midwestern university presidents: Dr. Howard L. Bevis, president of Ohio State University; Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University of Kentucky; Dr. Irwin T. Stewart, president of the West Virginia University, and Dr. Herman B. Wells, president of Indiana University.

Richwood Revival Services Announced

Revival services will open in First Church of Christ at Richwood Monday night, with Lawrence R. Fugit of Kentucky as the evangelist. He has served as pastor at Columbia, Ky., six years, and is president of the Louisville Christian Ministers' association.

Former pastorates were held at Indianapolis and at Brownsburg, Ind. He is prominent in church affairs in the state in which he now resides.

His sermon subjects for next week include "Religion Made to Please," "Deformed, Reformed or Transformed?" "The Cure for Sin," "New Testament Conversion," "Talk With a Man in Hell," "The Seven Wonders of Richwood," "The Ark of Safety and Wedding in the Sky." The services, at 7:45 each night, will continue through Dec. 15.

Lana Turner In Starring Role

With John Garfield at Marion in "Postman Always Rings Twice."

"The Postman Always Rings Twice" starring Lana Turner and John Garfield, and "I Conquer the Sea" will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

The former is a tale of two people whose love is frustrated by the presence of an unwanted husband. Lana Turner is cast as Corn Smith, wife of a roadside restaurant proprietor, and John Garfield is seen as Frank Chambers, a footloose hitch-hiker.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday is "Sentimental Journey," starring Maureen O'Hara, John Payne and William Bendix, and "Swing It Professor," with Pinky Tomlin and Paula Stone.

The former picture tells the story of a glamorous stage star, very much in love with her husband, who, in an attempt to add to his happiness, adopts a nine-year-old child. Because of the highly sensitive and imaginative nature of the youngster, the plan doesn't work out and, instead, quickly brings on a crisis in the lives of the husband and wife.

The double feature for Thursday through Saturday will be "Secret of the Whistler" starring Richard Dix with Leslie Brooks and Michael Duane, and "Lonesome Trail" starring Jimmy Wakely with Lee "Lasses" White and John James.

"Secret of the Whistler" tells of the strange emotions hidden in the hearts of a man and woman. In "Lonesome Trail," Jimmy Wakely and his pals are again on the side of the law against a gang of crooks who are trying to rule a town.

Classic Story of the Sea Heads Week's Opening Bill at Palace

"Two Years Before the Mast," the first motion picture adaptation of Richard Henry Dana's immortal classic of the sea, is now being shown through Wednesday at the Palace theater. Alan Ladd, Brian Donlevy, William Bendix and Barry Fitzgerald have been cast in the starring roles. Howard da Silva has the top featured role.

In summing up the terrible plight of the early American seaman, "Two Years Before the Mast" describes the voyage of the devilship "Pilgrim" from Boston to San Francisco around Cape Horn. Brian Donlevy, as the author-seaman, Dana, and Alan Ladd, as the ship owner's son, are among the unfortunates on board.

The brig is ruled mercilessly by Howard da Silva as Captain Thompson, and a tough first mate, played by William Bendix.

Ladd, a rich man's spoiled brat, when dragged on board the ship, is reformed by the rugged discipline at sea and by his love for Esther Fernandez, potraying a Spanish girl who boards the ship in Brazil enroute to California.

Short subjects showing with the feature include a technicolor novelty, "Golden Slippers," a technicolor cartoon, "Jasper in a Jam," and the latest news.

A double feature, "Angel on My Shoulder" and "They Were Sisters," has been billed for Thursday through Saturday.

The former, the story of Eddie Kagle, the man they couldn't keep down, stars Paul Muni, Anne Baxter and Claude Rains. The opening scenes of the romantic comedy-drama are laid in Hades. Claude Rains is cast as the Devil who returns to earth with one of his newest recruits, played by Paul Muni, in order that both of them can even up some old scores.

"They Were Sisters," based on the popular novel by Dorothy Whipple, tells the story of three sisters, their lives, loves and misfortunes.

The latest news will be shown with the double feature.

CORRECTION OF ERROR

The Central Press association, which recently distributed for publication pictures of three women carrying the caption, "First Women To Face Hangman in Canada," reports it has been advised by the photo source that an accidental error was made in the picture identified as that of Mrs. George Popowich. It was actually the photograph of another woman whose name is similar and who lives in the same area as the convicted woman but who had no connection with the case mentioned in the caption.

As these pictures appeared in The Star of Nov. 21 and also other newspapers throughout the country, we wish to correct the error on our own behalf and to express our sincere regrets and apology.

Western Story On Ohio Screen

Trio of Stars Have Leading Roles in "My Darling Clementine."

"My Darling Clementine," directed by John Ford, winner of three Academy Awards, is now being shown through Monday at the Ohio theater. In the starring roles are Linda Darnell, Henry Fonda and Victor Mature.

Based on real-life characters, the film recounts the story of Wyatt Earp, famed marshal of Tombstone, Arizona, in the fall of 1881, and his spectacular fight to bring law and order to the Southwest. Henry Fonda is cast as Wyatt Earp, the marshal, who cleaned up Dodge City and Wichita and then went to Tombstone to score a victory over the Clanton gang in a gun duel now told in many famous ballads.

Victor Mature is seen as "Doc" Holliday, the man who ran the town before Earp took over. Linda Darnell is the cafe singer, Chihuahua, mistress to Victor Mature. In time, she furnishes the clues for the real culprits and then dies.

Billed to be shown for seven days starting Tuesday is the recently released musical production, "Wake Up and Dream." Photographer in technicolor, it stars John Payne and June Haver.

Songs which provide the musical background and entertainment in the picture include "I Wish I Could Tell You," "Into the Sun," and "Give Me the Simple Life."

Hen Pheasants Given Wyandot County Home

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Nov. 30—Residents of the Wyandot county home near Upper Sandusky recently were served some very expensive meat, but neither they nor the home were called upon to bear any added expense. The eight hen pheasants delivered there by County Conservation Officer T. B. Warner, of Upper Sandusky, cost the hunters found "in possession" a total of nearly $900 in fines and costs, and they didn't get to keep the birds.

Albert G. Flannery Stricken in Galion

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 30—Albert G. Flannery, 77, lifelong resident of Galion, died suddenly Friday noon at his bench in his welding shop at the rear of his residence, 812 Harding Way East. He had not been ill and death was caused from a heart attack.

He was born in Galion, Oct. 18, 1869. His marriage to Louise McManes took place Oct. 8, 1902.

Surviving with the widow are three children: Mrs. C. T. Howman, Mrs. F. E. Resh and Herbert Flannery, all of Galion. Seven grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Minnie Murphy of Peru, Ind., and one brother, Arthur Flannery of Galion, also are living.

Mr. Flannery was a member of St. Joseph's parish.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 a. m. in St. Joseph's Catholic church with Rev. Father F. Z. Hermiller officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary cemetery. Friends may call at the Snyder funeral home.

Suffocation ranks number [illegible] as killer of newborn babies, accounting for about 50,000 infant deaths a year.

Historic Inn Now Home of Family In Wyandot Co.

Special to The Star

FORT SANDUSKY, O., Nov. — One of the oldest buildings in northern Ohio, a post road inn in Wyandot County road 135, north of Upper Sandusky, is being used as a farm house by the Roscoe Dawson family. Mr. Dawson is farming the surrounding acres owned by Mrs. Nina Zimmerspach, a former Wyandot county resident now living in Florida.

The inn, 14 rooms on three floors, was built in pioneer days by William Neil, probably a few years after he built the first Neil house in Columbus in 1832. Traces of the long-abandoned Fort Franklin stagecoach road can be seen near the present route 135. This road was a Columbus to the Lake Erie shore route that forded the Sandusky river near the inn and a short distance upstream from the present bridge. The land for the inn site was purchased from the United States government by Neil and Newcomer.

The building is in good repair and the sturdy structure requires little repair and mantenance. Alterations have been made in the floor plan and twelve of the rooms still have small iron fireplace grates in working order. Each of these fireplaces has a fine walnut mantel shelf over it and the woodwork in all the rooms has the gleam of well-kept and softly aged hard wood. One of the first floor rooms has a very large fireplace where the early day inn-kitchen cooking was conducted in full view of the travelers who gathered at a long table in the center of the room.

HUSBAND OF GIRL, 13, FACES COURT CHARGE

By The Associated Press

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 30—Martin H. Baker, 23-year-old bridegroom who told authorities he did not know his young bride was only 13 years old until they had been married a month, today faced justice court examination on a charge of statutory rape.

The girl, Marjorie Sage Baker, held in a juvenile detention home while her husband and mother were in jail, said in a statement released by Prosecutor Menso R. Bolt that she married Baker two months ago because she was afraid she might not be promoted from the seventh grade in school.

Bolt said she told him both her husband and Justice of the Peace John C Loucks, who married the couple Sept. 18, believed her age to be 16.

Marjorie's mother, Mrs. Blanche Sage Howarth, 43, who signed a statement of consent to the marriage, went before Police Judge Edward G. Burleson on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. She also demanded examination, set for Dec. 6, and was held on $200 bond.

Fugitives from State Boys' School Caught

Two Marion boys, ages 16 and 17, who escaped from the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster several days ago were picked up by police here yesterday. They are now in the county detention home awaiting delivery to Industrial school authorities. The boys are reported to have walked out of the school grounds. Marion police had been notified to be on the lookout for them.

PROFITS CASHED ON UPTURN OF STOCKS

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—Profit taking on three successive upturns handicapped today's brief stock market and resulted in irregular trends for most departments.

Many customers cashed in for protection over the weekend. Others bought timidly on the idea that the national coal dispute, threatening virtually all lines of industry, would not be permitted to continue indefinitely.

Beter performers included American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Glenn Martin, Du Pont, American Can, Union Carbide, Philip Morris, Santa Fe and Texas Co. Backward were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, U. S. Rubber, Anaconda, Southern Railway, Great Northern and Baltimore & Ohio.

Weakening grain and cotton futures tended to chill enthusiasm in the share division. Bonds were relatively steady.

Resistant in the curb were Tile Roofing, Brazilian Traction, Pantepec and Niagra Hudson. Lacking much support were Middle West Corp., Electric Bond & Share and De Jay Stores.

Week's Sale of New Autos Listed at 14

New cars sold in Marion county during the last week totaled 14, according to a report today from Clerk of Courts Calvin Oborn. Four trucks were sold during the same period. November sales to date total 90 automobiles, compared with 108 sold during October.

Dog Acts As Nurse For Injured Bird

By The Associated Press

A snowbird flew into the windshield of A. J. Purcell's automobile. Purcell took the injured bird to his Denver home. There the bird recovered and formed a strange friendship with Bumps, the family pup. Each time the partially paralyzed bird fell over, Bumps nosed him gently back on his feet. Here the snowbird takes nourishment while Bumps watches to see that his pal remains right side up.

New Soviet Stand Raises Question On Cooperation

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Russia's insistence yesterday on retaining the veto over any arms control plan gives rise to serious wonder whether the earlier display of sudden Soviet collaboration with the western allies is what it seems to be—the approach of real peace—or is just another case of "on again, off again Finnegan."

One's natural inclination is to cheer over any concession, having watched international relations deteriorate to a point where the danger of war could be seen. Still, while the present developments on the whole seem encouraging, we shall do well to reserve the main celebration until we are sure what is in the offing.

The current about-face, barring the veto problem, has been so sudden and seemingly complete as to be staggering—almost too good to be true. There is, for instance, that all-important agreement on the Trieste regime after months of bitter wrangling. That is a key which can unlock the door to the main objective of the peace-makers—a treaty with Germany, upon which must be built the rehabilitation of Europe.

Other Progress Made

Then the Big Four council of foreign ministers has, amazing to relate, made progress in resolving the quarrel over free navigation of the Danube river. This vast waterway is of great military-political-economic significance not only to central and eastern Europe but to the continent as a whole. The western allies have been fighting for wide open navigation, while the Muscovites up to now have opposed it.

Equally astonishing was the Soviet's agreement to international inspections in the field of arms and atomic bombs—until the veto question came up again.

But that isn't all. A far-reaching change in Russian policy toward Germany seems to be in the making. There have been persistent reports that the Soviet occupation authorities have decided to form state governments similar to those established in the American zone, with powers divided between federal and state administrations. Heretofore the Russians have been adamant in their insistence on a strong central government and have rejected the American plan for a federal state.

Looks Good on Surface

So it goes, and the ensemble looks so good at the moment that it really seems a pity not to accept it at face value forthwith. However, we have seen so many violent ups-and-downs in the relations of Moscow and the western allies that we must wait and see. And that's not a one-sided viewpoint, for Eddy Gilmore, AP chief of bureau in Moscow, reports that the Russian people, convinced that the Soviet Union is making important concessions at the United Nations and foreign ministers meetings in New York, are beginning to ask when the United States will start doing the same thing.

Probably the citizens of the Soviet capital also are thinking, as is your columnist, that the statesmen of most countries sometimes resort to strategy not unlike that employed by generals in war. I refer to the practice of creating a diversion on one front in order to distract enemy attention from the real point of attack.

In any event, we may expect that Russia will expect a quid pro quo for concessions. What reciprocity will they want? Well, there's that highly important question of increased Soviet rights in the Dardanelles which have been a matter of stubborn argument. And don't overlook that Greek Premier Tsaldaris is scheduled to fly to New York, presumably to lay before the United Nations the charge that Greece is being invaded by leftists from Russian dominated Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria. There are but two of numerous [illegible] which Russia undoubtedly [illegible] this would like, if not the [illegible] at least the neutrality of [illegible] ern allies.

Programs on the Air

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—First of the weekly programs in which radio is to discuss itself in 15-minute periods starts on CBS at 1:30 Sunday afternoon under the title "About Radio." It originally had been listed as "Radio and the Public."

Lyman Bryson will conduct the talks as a change in theme of his own series, William S. Paley, chairman of the network's board of directors, will introduce the broadcasts, inspiration for which was his recent speech on responsibility of radio.

Also coming up Sunday: NBC 2 p. m. Roy Shield to be new conductor in the Robert Merrill concert, replacing Frank Black, who in turn is transferring to the Concert of Stars at 2:30, formerly directed by Howard Barlow.

NBC 5—Arturo Toscanini to conduct the NBC symphony in the first of two broadcasts of Verdi's opera "La Traviata," soloists to be Licia Albanese, Jan Peerce and Robert Merrill.

MBS 7—Another revival of the Mysterious Traveler, crime drama based on the supernatural, replacing Symphonic Notes.

Some program developments: The Dennis Day show on NBC, introduced this season, is moving from 7:30 p. m. Thursdays to Wednesday nights at 8 on Christmas day. In doing so, it will take the time to be vacated by Mr. and Mrs. North, man and wife detective drama which is to go off after four years.

Raymond Swing, ABC commentator who is discontinuing his Wednesday-through-Friday 7:15 p. m. series next January 3, with Elmer Davis adding it to his schedule, has decided to take a vacation only until February, when he is to return on a once a week basis.

On Saturday night list: NBC—7:30 Curtain Time drama; 8 Life of Riley; 8:30 Truth or Consequences; 9 Roy Rogers roundup; 10 Judy Canova; 10:30 Grand Ole Opry starts 22nd year.

CBS—8 Hollywood Star Time; 8:30 Mayor of Town; 9 Hit Parade from Hollywood; 10:30 Rex Harrison in "Notorious Gentleman."

ABC—7:30 Curt Massey show; 8:30 I Deal in Crime; 9 Gangbusters; 9:30 Sherlock Holmes; 10:30 Hayloft Hoedown.

MBS—8 Twenty Questions quiz; 9 Minstrel Show; 9:30 Leave It to Girls; 10 Chicago theater, "Desert Song."

Miss Dorothy Gail Stephenson, soprano, and a trio composed of Misses Patricia Falor, Louise Caldwell and Grace Cyders, will be heard on the Marion Entertains program Sunday at 1 p. m. over Station WMRN. The program is produced and directed by Mrs. Griselda Davis Donbaugh.

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Erroneous listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and networks.

I GUESS I'M KINDA GOOFY—I KNOW TREES AIN'T GOT ANY FEELINGS, BUT I FEEL SORRY FOR A TREE THAT GETS CHOPPED DOWN-
I UNDERSTAND JUST HOW YOU FEEL, YOUNGSTER- SOMETIMES I FEEL THAT WAY, MYSELF -
HONEST, NO FOOLIN'?
I'M PLUMB EARNEST- BUT MY DADDY USED TO TELL ME, REMEMBER, SON- EVERY TIME A TREE GOES DOWN, A HOUSE GOES UP-
GEE!- I NEVER THOUGHT OF THAT- 'CAUSE WHEN THE HOUSE GOES UP, FOLKS LIVE IN IT AN' PLANT LOTSA NEW TREES 'ROUND THEIR NEW HOUSE-

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

"THEN," my father said briskly, "please telephone the Ticers at once and tell them in code that they are to watch the two entrances to the underground passage."

The icy finger touched my spine again. My father must fear something dire indeed, if he needed a watch kept over those entrances, for only the members of his own inner circle, which included the farmhouse family and the Ticers, knew the secret of those entrances.

I drew a quick sharp breath as I amended the list. "Mr. X.," the F.B.I. man who was masquerading as a Nazi agent, and Charlie Kent, my father's trusted taxi driver, had been given the secret recently. This precaution must mean—

No Time for Conjecture

But I had no time for conjecture. My father's eyes were beginning to mirror impatience, and I went quickly to the telephone.

But, as my hand went up to the receiver, my father's voice stopped it in mid-air.

"Tell them," he said, "that if either one sees anyone enter one of the underground passages, he is to rush up here to us immediately. I will describe them to the guards, so there will be no trouble about their getting to us."

I opened my lips for a startled question, closed them again as my father gave me the answer to my unspoken query.

"Any stray investigator into our secret will get no further than the iron barred gates just inside the passages, which are used only in emergencies," he said. "I have had both closed tonight. Now, if you will telephone, please."

Mrs. Ticer was on the wire almost as soon as the bell rang her number, and I gave my message quickly.

"I am afraid the deer are at our young trees again," I said. "You know that young orchard at the far end of the place?"

"Yes, yes, I know," she said. "Is it the apple orchard, or the pear and peach one?"

Both of Them

"Both of them," I answered. "Will your husband and Jerry go out and investigate? But my father wants them to be very careful not to startle the deer. He and Mr. Underwood and Jim want to bag a couple if they can."

"I understand," she said as I paused.

"He asks you that if either of them see a deer nibbling at a tree, he is to come at once to the farmhouse. The guards will be instructed to let them through."

"I'll tell them at once," she said with brisk competence. "and I'll get them out there without any waste of time."

"Thank you," I said. "I knew he could count on you."

Talking Into Air

But I was talking into empty air. Her receiver clicked before I had finished my sentence, and I hung up my own and turned to my father, smiling.

"She didn't wait for 'thank you's,'" I said. "She understood my message, and she is already getting Jerry and Sam into action."

"That's good news," my father said, "and now if you'll sit down with us, I will tell you what all these preparations mean. But first, is your little silencer pistol on your person?"

"Yes, it is," I told him.

Detailed Directions

"Then, here is your part in tonight's proceedings," he said. "You are to stand behind this—" he indicated a large ornamental screen standing in the hall. "Jim is even now bringing down the bulletproof metal sheets which we shall attach to the inner side of it, so that you will be safe.

"Your part will be to remember every word that is spoken in the hall tonight after certain—visitors—whom we expect, are admitted. Katie will stand behind there with you, and I have told her what will happen to her if she lets even a loud breath escape her.

"Now for the explanation," he said, and the words were hardly out of his mouth, before there came a loud knocking at the outer side door.
